Battle for Romulus pits Oakley against Folmar

Who will lead Romulus for the next two years — Mayor William M. Oakley or Leonard J. Folmar?

That question will be answered by approximately 25 percent of the voters who are expected to cast their ballots on several pertinent city and county-wide issues Tues., Nov. 3 in the General Election.

The voters will choose between the incumbent, Oakley, and Folmar, a veteran of 12 years as Romulus' city clerk.

The electorate will also have to determine who will fill the void created by Folmar's departure from the clerk's office — Linda R. Choate or Raymond Cantrell, and there will also be seven of 14 hopeful city council candidates whom must pass voter scrutiny.

Seeking re-election to council are Mary Ann Banks, Fred (Junior) Block, Jimmie Raspberry, Richard A. Yerman, Although councilman Edward Rush earlier in the campaign announced that he had withdrawn, his name will appear on the ballot and must still be considered a contender.

The challengers include: Barry Baumann, Noah P. Bergeron Jr., Lnnng Coleman, Brooker R. Edwards, Ray Elwart, Alan R. Lambers, John B. Lewkowicz, Terry L. Trout and Jack H. Trumble. (There is a complete biographical sketch of each council candidate on Page 3).

Beverly McAnnally, who has served as the city treasurer for the past two years, will retain the title as she is unopposed this year.

Oakley, 51, is seeking his third consecutive term as mayor. Prior to that he served on the Romulus School Board and then was elected to serve on the city council from 1970, when Romulus was incorporated into a city, until 1977. He was elected to the charter commission which drafted the charter that has guided Romulus since it became a city.

Oakley defeated the two former mayors when he won a close race in 1977, then won re-election by a substantial margin in 1979. He and his wife, Mary, reside at 9875 Tobine and are the parents of four children.

He was owner and operator of his own company — Bilmar Builders — prior to running for mayor. He campaigned on the premise that his business acumen would help the city financially and on the promise that he would stop the political bickering that had plagued the city for years.

He is a member in good standing with Romulus Rotary International, where he has served as vice-president and has had a perfect attendance record for the past 17 years. He and his family attend Community United Methodist Church.

Oakley feels he has accomplished his goals for the most part and is running on his record of four years in office. His critics say he is very personable with a nice smile but fails to communicate with people like he should.

Folmar is running for mayor after serving 11 years in the city clerk's office, the only clerk Romulus has ever had. He and his wife, Celeste, reside at 35856 Vypress and have two sons, Winston Todd and Marcus Bradley.

Folmar, 39, graduated from Romulus

MAYOR OAKLEY

High School in 1959 and attended Ferris State College in Big Rapids from 1959-1963. He graduated with a business administration degree. In 1963 he entered the Naval Reserve and served six months active duty before returning home. Two years later, he entered the Army and served in the quartermaster corps before being stationed in Weisbaden, Germany with the 8th Army paratrooper division.

Upon returning home, he served as assistant director of urban renewal for Romulus Township from 1968 to 1970. He has been elected to the city clerk's position five consecutive 2-year terms.

Folmar is highly-regarded among his peers in the Wayne County Association and Township Clerks Association (WCMTCA), having been elected vice-chairman and chairman of the group.

He feels he has done a good job as city clerk and believes he will do a good job in being responsive to the people's needs if he is elected Mayor. However, Folmar has been criticized for his controversial day-to-day operation of the city clerk's office.

Local briefs

Eligible voters who will not be able to make it to the polls for the Tues., Nov. 3 General Election may pick up absentee ballot applications and ballots from their city or township clerk's offices Monday through Friday during regular business hours.

The last day a person may obtain an absentee ballot is Saturday, Oct. 31.

Please telephone your township or city clerk's office for further information.

Van Buren and Sumpter voters will have it "comparatively easy" on Tues., Nov. 3 during the General Election. Although most area townships and city ballots will be clustered with proposals and school propositions, these two townships will be spared the ordeal.

Sumpter and Van Buren voters will have to decide if they wish to adopt the new Wayne County Charter and that is the single issue confronting them.

Polls will open at 7 a.m. and close at 8 p.m.

Friends of Romulus Mayor William Oakley will hold an "Election Rally" beginning at 9 p.m. until 1 a.m., Sat., Oct. 31 at the Progressive Hall.

Music will be provided by the "Sounds of Joy" and tickets, at $7.50, can be picked up or can be reserved by telephoning 942-1810.

Huron faces 3 crucial proposals

Abandoned by the Wayne County sheriff's patrol, Huron Township voters will have a crucial decision to make on Tuesday, Nov. 3 when about half of its nearly 10,000 voters are expected to go to the polls.

On the ballot is a proposal that would raise local taxes one mill to help finance the township police force and turn it into a 24-hour agency.

"I am not in favor of raising taxes," Police Chief Joseph Carney said, "however we have to face the realities of life. Right now we don't have a 24-hour police force and in these times, I don't have to stress the importance of police protection."

Huron presently has a five full-time police officer force including the chief, and also the services of six part-time officers who are called upon "when needed, according to Chief Carney.

The township is asking for one mill, or $1 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation. According to officials, if a house is assessed at $50,000, a taxpayer would be paying around $25 more per year.

"We don't believe that that's very much more when you consider that between the hours of 2 a.m. and 8 a.m. we don't have anyone policing our township," Carney said.

The present police budget is $240,000 and the new mill, if approved, would generate around $75,000.

Part of the Huron problem was created with the elimination of the Wayne County road patrol, however, Huron at one time did have a full-time force. But lack of funds curtailed deploying scout cars and officers.

Voters will have four proposals:

PROPOSAL A — Police Millage: Shall the total tax rate limitation that may be imposed for all purposes upon property in the township of Huron be increased by one mill, $1 per each $1,000 of state equalized valuation of all property within the township for a period of five years, the years 1981 to 1985 both inclusive to provide funds for Huron Township to operate the police department on a 24-hour basis.

PROPOSAL B — Shall the township of Huron incorporate as a charter township which shall be a municipal corporation subject to the provision of Act No. 359 of Public Act of 1947 as amended

Wyandotte Savings Bank celebrated the opening of its new main headquarters at 3200 Biddle in Wyandotte by sponsoring a grand opening drawing featuring a variety of prizes, ranging from bicycles, watches and radios to a color television and a trip for two to Toronto. Among the lucky winners were Barbara Wierzchowski (left), Robert which act shall constitute the charter of such municipal corporation?

Doumanian of Westland, Helen Zeestraten of Romulus and Gloria Butler. Wyandotte Savings Bank has 15 area offices, including facilities in Romulus and Belleville. Other local winners included Dan Murphy of Belleville, Gerald Wilkerson of Romulus and Gary Twelkemein of Canton.

PROPOSAL C — Shall the township of Huron, on behalf of the Huron Township Recreation Committee levy three-quarters of one mill for the year 1981 for renovation of the New Boston School to be used as a community center to house senior citizens, youth groups, hall groups, civic organizations or any other municipal purpose. The recreation committee deems valid, thereafter one-half mill a year to be levied for the purpose of operation and maintenance of the community center.

To each question, Huron voters are asked to answer "Yes," or "No."

The other question local voters will face is that of adopting the newly drafted Wayne County Charter which has provisions for an elected executive official. Polls will open at 7 a.m.

Bond issue

It's showdown time for schools

On the wake of school closings in Alpena and the threat of Taylor schools to shut down after millage defeats, Romulus Community School District are going to the voters for approval of a unique bond issue to save the school district.

The voters will be asked on Tues., Nov. 3, to approve the sale of bonds to keep the schools open. The school district is mired in $3 million in debts, and Superintendent William Bedell has received the Board of Education's approval to place the crucial bond proposal on the ballot.

That proposal will read: "Shall Romulus Community School District borrow the principal sum of not to exceed $3,000,000 and issue its unlimited tax bonds or notes therefor for the purpose of funding the school district's operating deficit?"

If the school district doesn't receive voter approval, it will close school doors effective January 4, 1982. The school board has informed all of its employees via registered mail of its intentions.

"I feel that people in this community realize and will carry out their obligations to the children of this community," Supt. Bedell said. "Our children are our future and we can't deny them an education."

"Therefore, I am urging all of our citizens to support their schools and their children. That's about what it comes down to," Supt. Bedell said.

The state board of education has warned "that it will not bailout any of the schools with financial problems."

Supt. Bedell has pointed out that the school district would have to levy about 10 mills in new taxes to pay off its $3 million deficit immediately without a bond sale.

And, it could be unconstitutional to increase the school tax by that much immediately, so we have decided to approve a tax of 2 mills in the first year, and decreasing amounts in succeeding years to pay off the bonds, which we feel is the best way to go," Bedell said.

According to school officials, schools have been permitted to sell bonds through a not-too-publicized law enacted in the early 1970's to bail out the then Detroit Public School System.

Who'll be next city clerk?

Choate and Cantrell clash

Who will be the new City Clerk in Romulus?

In the race for City Clerk on next Tuesday's ballot, Deputy Clerk Linda Choate is being challenged by Raymond Cantrell, the city purchasing director.

Mrs. Choate and Cantrell finished 1-2 in the primary race with 815 votes and 660 votes, respectively. Finishing third with 538 votes was Robert Plank.

Cantrell got a boost in his campaign this week when Plank publicly endorsed him as the best candidate for the clerk's position. "I feel that Ray Cantrell will work the hardest and be most effective in providing service to the citizens of Romulus," Plank said.

Mrs. Choate, 41, believes her eight years experience in the city clerk's office gives her the qualifications to do the job in the most effective way.

"I have worked in the city clerk's office since 1973 and have trained for the clerk's position for four years," she said. "I have completed the requirements of a certified Municipal Clerk at Syracuse University."

"I am very concerned about the efficient operation of the clerk's office and in helping the public we serve. Many of our procedures are among the most up-to-date and we are asked for advice from many neighboring communities," she said.

Cantrell, 32, has been purchasing director for the City of Romulus six years and feels he has the ability to be an outstanding city clerk.

"The City Clerk's office in my judgment is the most important elective position within the City of Romulus," he said. "The responsibilities of the clerk's office is the backbone of the city, and most vital for an efficient government."

YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW...

MY STATEMENT TO THE PEOPLE OF ROMULUS

REPRINTED FROM THE
ROMULUS ROMAN 10/21/81

The Other Side of the Meridian

The public's right to know

Our editorial staff is already showing the scars of political campaign fatigue.

And there are still 13 days remaining before the battle is over, and the victors claim their spoils.

The area political mosaic that is being pieced together in these final days is one that would discourage even the most avid believer in "our system".

Yes, I can hear the replies: Duty. Responsibility. To serve our fellow man. And, then, what time in man's history has it ever been different? Stable? No time.

Then, there comes this tory of a man, Leonard Folmar, who has served Romulus for more than a decade as its clerk, who is accused of wrongly using his office. He has been arrested and charged with a felony on the eve of a campaign in which he seeks the highest office that city has to offer — the mayor's job.

Folmar says that the political forces who would keep him out of office have contrived and trumped up these charges and that he is innocent of any wrongdoing.

We hope that he and his attorney can prove he is innocent.

But, it is a matter of public record that Mr. Folmar has been accused and charged with obtaining services over $100 by false pretense, and we would be negligent in our duty and to our profession not to report it here.

We feel that Mr. Folmar should clear his name and be given every opportunity to do so.

Unfortunately, this incident comes on the eve of an important election. But, uncompromisingly, we feel the public has a right to know.

DO YOU WANT A GOVERNMENT THAT SIMPLY SMILES AT YOU, OR ONE THAT WORKS FOR YOU?

THE SMILING GOVERNMENT HAS...

- Failed to provide one new service in four years.
- Smiled while the city slipped one million in the red.
- Smiled while city council went two years without finance reports.
- Smiled while the city employees union contract went unsettled for two years.
- Smiled while our city council fought to keep our community safe from sludge.
- Smiled while vandals destroyed our parks, brick by brick.
- Smiled while downtown development struggle.
- Smiled while our schools struggled for survival.

ELECT A WORKING GOVERNMENT THAT WILL...

- Improve present services and develop new programs.
- Report regularly city financial conditions.
- Assume quick settlement of long overdue contracts.
- Speak out in support of the citizen opposition to sludge.
- Keep our parks safe from intruding vandals.
- Allocate funds for the completion of our downtown development.
- Speak out in support of our struggling schools.

The Conspiracy Against Folmar

DEAR ROMULUS CITIZENS:

If you think that dirty politics and mudslinging is over in Romulus, please read the following, and think again.

And if you don't know what the real issues are in this election, it's because those issues are taking a back seat to dirty politics by those who have formed a conspiracy against me as a black candidate for mayor.

I believe that you have the right to know what's going on in this election, and not just falsehood by those who have certain powers in our city. Let me explain:

Last June, mind you — nearly six months ago, someone obtained a fireworks permit from the city clerk's office. Suddenly, now, months later, someone in City Hall prompted our police department to ask for an investigation — claiming the money for the permit did not reach the treasurer's office. The money involved is $250.

I have been City Clerk for 11 years and have served our city faithfully. It is not my habit or lifestyle, after all these years, to obtain any money by false pretenses. I'm sure there is an honest mistake somewhere, if the charge is true. But it is more likely that the charge is trumped up by opponents of mine.

But why was this suddenly brought up now only a few days before the election in which I am running for mayor? Why didn't they bring this up long before now?

May I tell you why...

The perpetrators of this trumped-up charge carefully planned this and timed it perfectly to appear only days before the election, because I am a BLACK CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR. I believe they are racially motivated against having a black mayor.

This newspaper claims that the public has a right to know (See reprint of The Other Side of the Meridian). Where was the public's right to know when the current mayor's administrative departmental head took $500 from a fertilizer plant in Romulus?

WHY DID THE MAYOR'S APPOINTEE, (THE INDUSTRIAL CO-ORDINATOR), ACCEPT $500 FROM DETROIT? HE HAS ALREADY TESTIFIED UNDER OATH THAT HE TOOK THE MONEY — BUT NO ONE HAS DONE ANYTHING ABOUT IT.

Why haven't all the facts appeared in the papers — why have the facts remained hidden in City Hall and in the secrecy of the City Council? Why hasn't the mayor removed his appointee from office for taking $500 illegally?

Why hasn't the City Council used its investigative authority and eliminated the Industrial Co-ordinator's salary from the budget?

Why hasn't the mayor taken any action? Why hasn't the City Council done something about it?

Why have they decided to allow this man to continue collecting his salary and either ignore or hide the $500 deal, while they attack me in a trumped up charge?

What I am saying here is a matter of court record that can be checked by any one. The record is from the Circuit Court deposition, the interrogation of the Industrial Co-ordinator who admitted under oath that he — indeed — took $500, which he claims he has returned without any legal action by the city. Anyone interested in reading the deposition in its entirety may contact me in the City Clerk's office. The mayor and members of the City Council, who did nothing about it, also have copies.

Sincerely,
Leonard Folmar
City Clerk

Battle lines drawn for 7 council seats

MARY ANN BANKS

Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks is seeking her third term on the Romulus City Council "because I care deeply about our city, the citizens and the function of our government."

Mrs. Banks, 49, has always been a popular vote-getter and led the council candidates in the September primary. She feels that the two main issues facing Romulus are keeping an environmentally clean city and promoting good business and industry.

"I have in the past, and will continue to do whatever is possible to keep Romulus an environmentally clean city," she said. "I wholeheartedly support the Downtown Revitalization Program and will work to promote a clean, healthy business climate in all areas of the city. Also, I will encourage industry to locate here, thus creating much needed jobs."

A lifetime resident of Romulus, she came up through Romulus Schools and graduated from Romulus High School. She also attended night classes at Henry Ford Community College and is employed as a secretary at Hale Creek Elementary School.

She and her husband, Robert, have three grown children and reside on Mario Ann Court.

Mrs. Banks presently serves on the Cable TV Committee that has done research and study into bringing cable television into Romulus. She is also a member of the Romulus Historical Society, an associate member of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce, a member of St. Aloysius Church and a member of AFSCME Union, Local 64.

She feels her two terms on council as well as being active in other community projects gives her the qualifications to do a good job.

"The experience of four years on the council has helped me gain insight in many areas of government," she said. "Having background knowledge is useful in helping citizens with problems or concerns."

"When called upon by a citizen, I have always sought to resolve any problem or concern," she said.

She is endorsed by AFSCME Local 64.

JIMMIE C. RASPBERRY

The "dean of the city council" and probably one of the longest serving public officials in Western Wayne County, Jimmie Raspberry has been an articulate spokesman for the community since the late 1940s. He has served as township constable, uniform police officer, township trustee, has been a member of the City Council from 1970 until the present day. The span was broken briefly when he was defeated in 1973.

"One of the crucial challenges that will face the next council, warned Raspberry, "will be the economy. How can we get the most out of the decreasing dollar — money will be a problem — for the people have become sick of paying taxes."

"And that means we will have to have strong leadership in government — and people in government who have an excellent sense of business and fiscal restraint," Raspberry said.

A retiree from the Ford Motor Company, Raspberry has been the impetus behind creating senior citizen projects, recreation facilities and has been the watchdog over municipal spending.

Raspberry has helped draft the present city charter and has been a member of a host of commissions during his long tenure in municipal government.

Who'll be next city clerk?

Improvements Cantrell says he would implement include: accounts payable procedures, voter registration, issuing of business licenses, reducing insurance costs, handling of cemetery records and record keeping.

"As Romulus City Clerk, I will continue to operate in the same efficient and professional manner as I have in the past as the city's purchasing director."

"I will provide the best possible service to all Romulus residents and will always be available to assist your needs," Cantrell concluded.

He is very much opposed to the proposed DeRo Sludge Plant and has opposed similar projects in the past because: "We just don't have the expertise to police this type of operation and consequently those companies can get away with almost anything."

EDWARD A. RUSH

Although he had earlier withdrawn from the campaign, Ed Rush will very much determine the make-up of the next city council. His name will appear on the ballot and he is a proven vote-getter. If he finishes among the top seven, the 34-year-old councilman has two alternatives:

Rush can accept the verdict of the voters and become a member of council or he can accept the oath, then resign, and allow Council to fill the vacancy.

Rush had withdrawn because of "family and business commitments", but his concerns about the direction the city is taking in a wide range of programs has kept him politically active.

"There are several crucial decisions this and the next council will have to make, namely, cable TV and the DeRo plant, that deserves all of our attention," Rush pointed out. "We must have qualified people in government to make these decisions."

"And another major issue is what are the people receiving for their increased taxes they are paying. If we can't get the State Legislature to rescind PA 114 (Public Act 114), the equal by class tax, then what will government do for the people with those tax dollars," Rush added.

A member of council since 1979, Rush has served on the Planning Commission and is a local businessman. He says "that he seeks no endorsements from persons or organizations — but states that "the only endorsement I desire is of the citizens I have served over the past two years."

FRED (JUNIOR) BLOCK

One of the most familiar names and faces in Romulus is one of the 14 nominees for seven city council seats on next Tuesday's ballot.

He's Fred (Junior) Block, who has been a member of Romulus City Council ever since it became a city in 1970. He has been elected to five terms as a councilman and is seeking re-election to his sixth term on Nov. 3.

The 57-year-old Block, who is best known by the name Junior, has been a lifelong resident of Romulus and has seen many changes take place over the years.

He has deep roots in the community. His ancestors settled here more than 100 years ago. Junior and his wife, Lorraine, live at 15099 Middlebelt Road and are the parents of five grown children.

He has worked with his hands all his life, having been self-employed as a farmer and in selling new and used farm machinery and construction equipment at Middlebelt and Eureka roads for the past 33 years.

Block is familiar to most people in the city, participating in many community events and is particularly known for his portrayal of Santa Claus each Christmas for children's and senior citizen parties.

Active in church work, he is a long-time member of St. Paul's United Church of Christ where he has served as deacon and trustee. He is a member of the Wayne County Fair Board and actively participates in the annual county 4-H fair in Van Buren Township.

If elected, Block says he will continue to be an independent thinker and do what is best for all the citizens of Romulus.

RICHARD A. YERAMIAN

Councilman Richard K. Yeramian is running for re-election in the Nov. 3 election because he likes to be a public servant.

The 37-year-old father of three daughters has been a Wayne County Sheriff Deputy for 10 years and is presently assigned to the Wayne County Jail Annex in Westland.

"I have been a public servant all my life and feel that I know the wants and needs of the people in Romulus," he said. "Living in and being assigned to Romulus as a Sheriff's Deputy for 10 years made me aware of numerous problems."

Yeramian says the City of Romulus is starting to move for the first time. "I know it's not easy to see. It's like the hands on a clock," he said.

"I believe the Romulus administration is holding down taxes and wasteful spending. We need and are getting more industries. There is also a need for more senior citizens housing and to improve our schools and recreation opportunities."

A 10-year resident of Romulus, Yeramian graduated from Taylor Center High School and has attended Wayne County Community College. He served as a police officer in Inkster in 1969 and in Romulus from 1969-71 before joining Wayne County Sheriff's Department in 1971.

He is active in functions with St. Aloysius Church in Romulus, St. Sarkis Armenian Church, Romulus Rotary Club and is a member of the Romulus Democratic Club.

Yeramian feels he is qualified because of his training to treat people fairly and have an open mind.

"I have been trained to act fair and have an open mind to the people's problems," he said. "Also, the valuable experience gained by the two years in office as a councilman and serving on the Romulus Planning commission," he said.

Yeramian has been endorsed by Sheriff's Union Local 502, UAW CAP of the 15th District, and Fraternal Order of Police.

RAY ELWART

Dr. Ray Elwart, a professional man in Romulus, is one of 14 nominees seeking election to City Council on the Nov. 3 ballot.

"I love the city of Romulus and want to get involved in my city government," said the Doctor of Chiropractic who has lived here since 1951.

Dr. Elwart and his wife, Mary, reside at 37511 Huron River Drive and are the parents of three grown children, all of whom have become doctors of chiropractic. They are Dr. Dan Elwart, Dr. Linda Atkinson and Dr. Cynthia Shaft.

He attended Milan High School and Richmond High School before being inducted into the Army in 1944. He served with the army and anti-aircraft artillery before being honorably discharged in 1947. He won numerous honors for bravery while serving in the army, including the Purple Heart, Combat Infantry Badge, Bronze Star, Silver Star, ETO Ribbon, Victory Ribbon and the Good Conduct Medal.

Although this is Dr. Elwart's first run for public office, he has been active in numerous community organizations. These include Michigan Chiropractic Council; member of International Chiropractic Assn., past member of the board of directors of Romulus Chamber of Commerce; a member of Romulus Central Business District; Downtown Development Assn.; Fourth degree Knight of Columbus and A Trustee for Wayne Community College.

"As a business man and professional man and as a councilman my desire is to continue to make the City of Romulus grow and to be a beautiful city," he said. "I want to make favorable decisions and recommendations for us to live here, as well as our children if they decide to live in Romulus in the future."

Dr. Elwart says he has loved Romulus ever since he moved here in 1951 and can see growth and development in the city.

He feels that there are three main issues in this campaign — taxes, beautify the city and see development.

"I support our city government, but I feel that as a councilman I would help encourage control of spending of public funds and taxes, and therefore keep taxes down and a reasonable tax for our citizens of Romulus," Dr. Elwart said.

As for beautifying and developing Romulus, he said, "I understand we receive funds from Washington and very likely will be getting more funds in the future for the purposes of rebuilding our streets, sidewalks and lights."

"I will look more deeply into this matter and see what monies have come into our city for development and what has been done about it."

BROOKER R. EDWARDS

Brooker R. Edwards feels his long-time residency in Romulus makes him qualified to deal with its problems. He is one of 14 candidates nominated to run off for seven city council seats on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Edwards, a 29-year resident of Romulus, was elected to the first city council when Romulus became a city in 1970. Edwards served as a councilman from 1970-73.

Brooker and his wife, Willie C., have two grown sons and reside at 11323 Grover Street. Edwards, 55, grew up in Mississippi where he attended Choctaw County High School and Alcorn A & M College. He is employed by the Ford Motor Company where he works as a utility man for machine setup.

Edwards served in the United States Army from 1944-46 and is past master of St. John Lodge #44. He is currently the president of Romulus Civic League.

In response to a candidate's questionnaire from the Romulus Roman, Edwards made two brief comments.

"From past experience as councilman, I would have some input in the progress of Romulus," Edwards said. "Having served 3½ years as Councilman, I feel that I am qualified."

LNNG COLEMAN

A former Romulus City Councilman feels his past experience in that position makes him a qualified candidate for that post in the Nov. 3 election.

Lnng Coleman, a 26-year resident of Romulus, is one of 14 candidates running for the seven council positions on next week's ballot.

"As a former Council member, I believe that my experience and expertise should benefit my community," he said. "Especially after listening to the continuing controversy brought about by our Wayne County Commissioners in particular reference to Sheriff Lucas and the Romulus situation."

"One commissioner, Arthur M. Carter, is ill-informed regarding affairs of the City of Romulus and Wayne County Tax issues," Coleman said.

Coleman believes his service as a city councilman from 1972-75, plus his active participation in community affairs makes him conversant with city problems and possible solutions.

He is past president of the Romulus Kiwanis Club; treasurer of Family and Neighborhood Services; Phi Kappa Delta; Vice-president of Romulus Democratic Club; member, Romulus Chamber of Commerce; Member 15th District Democratic Club; and Boy Scout Chairman of the Board.

Coleman, 40, lives at 6014 Colorado and is employed at Romulus Child Care Center as director of child care services. He graduated from Romulus High School and later attended Ferris State College, University of Detroit; Madonna College and Oakland University. His degrees include an Associates in applied science; a BA in communication and education; an early childhood specialist degree and an EI and LD certified teaching fellowship.

Coleman sees additional tax base and improved services to the public as the main issues facing the new city council.

"The future of the city of Romulus and its ability to bring in additional tax base is a crucial issue," he said. "We need to become more saleable to industry and to provide improved public services to the community."

"Taxes should be incurred through millage provisions until such time as we can find better ways to support our school system."

"Does the Airport contribute a fair share of subsidies to the city of Romulus? Or should they be assessed additional financial support to the city?"

Coleman promised to work hard to resolve these and many other problems facing the residents of Romulus if he is elected to city council.

BARRY BAUMANN

Barry Baumann feels this is his year to be elected to Romulus City Council.

The 30-year-old narrowly missed being elected in 1977 and 1979 by a handful of votes. He finished sixth in the September Primary Election with 899 votes.

Baumann, who is single, and a lifelong resident of the city, says the town is at a standstill and needs positive leadership to get it moving forward.

"As a lifelong resident of Romulus, I believe this town is stagnant," he said. "One reason is the lack of leadership. I feel the present council members are far removed from the real problems in the community and cannot offer the insight needed for their solutions. Romulus needs a dynamic young councilman."

Baumann attended St. Aloysius School in Romulus before attending St. Mary's High School and St. Mary's College in Orchard Lake, Michigan. He has a BA degree from St. Mary's College and studied two years for the priesthood.

While in college he was elected class president.

A resident of 10939 S. Wayne Road, he works as an assembly inspector at General Motors Assembly Plant at Willow Run. He has been involved in several community organizations, including Romulus Jaycees, Romulus Athletic Club, Romulus Booster Club and Romulus South Little League, where he has been a manager 10 years. His teams have won the Little League title the past two years, going undefeated during both seasons.

Baumann feels his lifetime residency in Romulus has given him insight into many of the problems facing the city.

"Because I have been very active in the community, I know that I feel the pulse of the town. I have been active in many governmental areas and, being a hometown boy, I know Romulus," he said.

The major issues facing Romulus are taxes, commercial development, police protection, Metropolitan Airport and the Detro Sludge Plant, Baumann said. "Taxes are the hottest issue today. People aren't asking, they are demanding some type of relief. As a council person, we must hold the line on spending, as well as raise hell with Lansing to get something going on a tax-cut program," he explained.

"Commercial development is also an issue and it is time Romulus residents stop supporting Taylor, Wayne, Westland and Belleville and put money into our own community."

Baumann described most residents as being fairly comfortable with Romulus' newly-formed police department and said he would support all efforts to make it the best in the state.

As for the Airport, Baumann said, "I would propose a room tax on each room used daily in the area hotels. That would bring in extra revenue into the city and get government out of the pocketbook of our residents. Many major cities have such a tax, we should get our share now."

As concerning Detro Project, "The people throughout the city do not want to see such a development, I think it is incumbent on the council to honor these feelings of the residents. The plant is not in our best interest," Baumann concluded.

Baumann said he is endorsed by 15th District UAW-CAP; Metro Detroit AFL CIO Council; Michigan Teamsters Joint 43 DRIVE Council; International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL-CIO; United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local 1102; and Detroit Building Trades.

JOHN B. LEWKOWICZ

John B. Lewkowicz, a former two-term treasurer of Romulus, is one of 14 nominees for seven council seats in the Nov. 3 election.

The 18-year resident of the city has been away from the political arena for four years and feels he can help Romulus grow and move forward.

"I want to continue service to the city of Romulus and the citizens," he responded in answer to why he decided to seek a seat on city council. He is well-known for his service in community organizations and his stints in public service.

Lewkowicz, 63, was Romulus Water and Sewer Commissioner from 1968-70 and served elected two terms as City Treasurer from 1973-77. He has also been extremely active in a long list of community activities.

These include past president and member of Romulus Kiwanis Club for 16 years and member and usher at St. Aloysius Church for 18 years; Knights of Columbus Notre Dame Council 3021; former treasurer, 15th District Democratic Club; former scoutmaster, Boys Scouts of America Troop 782 for seven years; precinct delegate; World War II veteran, and a member of VFW Post 9568 for 18 years.

Prior to that, he served in World War I from 1943-46 with the 765th Field Artillery Battalion.

He has also served as elected committeeman, Chairman and negotiator for UAW Local 174 for 25 years at Timken Division, Rockwell International.

John and his wife, Pauline, reside at 36723 Grant Street and are the parents of eight children. A graduate of Detroit Southwestern High School, Lewkowicz has taken special accounting and tax classes at Wayne Community School District, Ferris State College and University of Michigan.

"I feel my extensive experience in serving in elected office and community affairs gives me qualifications to be a good city councilman," Lewkowicz said.

He said that he earned approximately one million dollars in interest for the City of Romulus on investments during his four years as treasurer. According to the former treasurer, he stopped special drain assessments against the citizens of Romulus that were being used for administration rather than for cleaning of the drains.

"I also reorganized systems to save City of Romulus money and audits showed that all expenditures were proper, all funds accounted for and balanced by auditors of city records while I was in office," Lewkowicz said.

His program includes planned progress, economic development, reduction in taxes, protecting the equity of Romulus, job programs, police and fire protection, and youth and senior citizen programs.

He is endorsed by Wayne County UAW-CAP and 15th Congressional District Democratic Party Region 1E.

TERRY L. TROUTT

One of the best known names in Romulus political circles is back after a four-year absence.

Terry L. Troutt, who served as Romulus Township Supervisor from 1955-63, as state senator from 1966-68 and as Mayor of Romulus from 1973-75, is a nominee for city council on the Nov. 3 ballot. He was defeated in his bid for re-election to the mayor's post in 1975 and 1977 in close races.

Troutt said he was back in politics "because new leadership is needed on Romulus City Council." He said he felt his past experience in government gave him the qualifications to be effective.

Presently self-employed in business management, Troutt, 61, resides at 16325 Farnum and has lived in Romulus 40 years. He is a member of VFW Post 9568 and the Romulus Democratic Club. Troutt served in the United States Navy during World War I.

The veteran politician said his main purpose in running for public office is to cut the fat from local government spending.

"Due to excessively high taxes and the very high unemployment problem, it is necessary to cut all waste in our government," he said.

Troutt has linked his campaign with that of Jack Trumble, another nominee for city council on Nov. 3 ballot. Campaign literature handed out asks voters to "Vote for Troutt and Trumble." It also states: "Romulus again needs Troutt and his running mate Jack Trumble to provide leadership and progress, to generate forward movement on behalf of the people."

Troutt's literature states that "he was honored in the Senate for greatest number of bills passed for the people, brought industry (GM and others) to Romulus, established record for services in Romulus without raising taxes and initiated the only major water, sewer, and road programs in Romulus."

It continues: "Chairman, 16th Congressional District Democratic Organization, director of People's Community Hospital Authority, responsible for Kelsey Hayes locating in Romulus, completed mayor's term with surplus in city treasury, established record for services to people, fought for underprivileged and senior citizens and was one of the authors of the Romulus City Charter."

"There is much talk these days in Romulus about the lack of forward movement. Residents keep telling me that nothing has been constructively done for our city or people since I left Romulus," Troutt said.

"For instance, only one member of the present Council participated in meetings against higher taxes. Otherwise, what has been done for our city? Why haven't they shown any legislative leadership?"

"My running mate Jack Trumble, a former city councilman with a great deal of foresight, and I want to see sincere representation of the people again in our city. That is the right of every citizen, to be represented and be heard. "Trumble and I wish to see the City Council geared to the needs of the people again, to their wants and services," Troutt said.

Troutt said he is endorsed by "labor and the Democratic Party."

NOAH P. BERGERON, JR.

Noah (Pete) Bergeron feels his background in financial planning can be a real asset if he is elected to Romulus City Council next Tuesday.

The 32-year-old financial planner is a lifetime resident of Romulus and is one of 14 nominees running for the seven council seats. He and his wife, Marsha, are the parents of three boys, Pete, Mike and Bob.

"In times of shrinking budgets and decreasing revenues, I pledge to use local taxpayers dollars as carefully and wisely as possible," he said. "I believe I know the governmental process and I know I can work within the system and make it work for the citizens of Romulus."

"I would like to serve the residents of Romulus by devoting the many necessary hours attending meetings, hearing deliberations, talking to residents, seeking opinions and most important, making rational decisions that I believe will benefit this city," he said.

Bergeron said he feels his job as financial planner allows him to arrange his schedule to the best advantage in spending time on solving problems facing Romulus.

"Also, I know the present council members and those running for seats on the council and believe I can get along with them all and work together to build a better community for all of us."

Bergeron has been active in many community affairs. He has served on the Romulus Housing Commission, was director of Romulus Rotary Club and is very active in its activities, is an active member of St. Aloysius Church, is a board member of Romulus Athletic Club and is a former board member and vice-president of Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

He was a skilled tradesman from 1969-1973 when he became an insurance salesman and individual financial planner which he still pursues at the present.

"I want to serve on city council because I grew up in this city, studied in its schools, attend church, conduct business here, and my wife, Marsha and I are raising our three sons here," he said.

"Our community faces many important decisions in the coming months, and I need the active input and support from all people who take the time to vote and are concerned about the way their local government is conducted."

"Our community stands at the crossroads of its development. It needs leaders who are capable of making rational decisions. I pledge to do so," Bergeron said.

Bergeron sees the main issues facing Romulus as good planning for future commercial, industrial and residential development in Romulus instead of the present situation.

"With my work experience and background in finances, I believe I can pinpoint the problems and needs of our city. I can help in the planning and budgeting

Romulus board members drum up bond proposal support

The Romulus School Board of Education members and school officials worked frantically to bring the message of their proposed Bond Issue vote Nov. 3 to the voters of the community.

The unique approach never before used in Michigan, calls for the school district to gain voter approval to sell some $3 Million worth of bonds.

The Bonds would be used to retire the Fact sheet

- Q. What is the ballot proposal appearing on the November 3, 1981 city election?
- A. The Romulus Board of Education has placed a proposal on the ballot to sell bonds to eliminate the district's accumulated $3 million operating deficit. Voter approval of the proposal will eliminate a 3 year deficit and bring the district out of debt.
- Q. How much will the proposal cost taxpayers?
- A. It will take approximately 2 mills beginning next year to pay the bonds. Every year after that, the required levy will decrease as city tax base increases. The net cost is about 50 cents per week for the average homeowner.
- Q. What is the duration of the Bond Issue?
- A. The bonds will be sold for eight (8) years. Taxes to pay them will not begin until next September (September of 1982).
- Q. What will happen if the Bond Issue doesn't pass?
- A. Failure to pass the proposal (or to actually sell the bonds if they are approved) will mean more cuts in program and the probable closing of all schools sometime this winter.
- Q. Why are we in so much trouble? What happened?
- A. The district's problems are caused basically by state revenue losses and decline of enrollment. The Romulus Board is seeking a solution to these problems through local control and initiative.
- Q. My taxes have been increasing. My bill goes up every year. How come this isn't enough money to run the schools?
- A. The state aid formula used in Michigan is the culprit here. As your local property values have increased, the state aid formula goes down exactly the same amount of money. This means that even if your house is assessed an additional 20 percent none of that money comes to your school district because the state aid is reduced the same amount.
- Q. Are there any other communities in the state having this same problem?
- A. Yes. Many, and there will be more. Taylor, Pontiac, Lincoln Park, Van Buren, and many other districts were hurt by the state aid formula in the same way we are.
- Q. Won't the state help Romulus and these other districts by bailing them out?
- A. Absolutely not. The Romulus Board has spent a great deal of time in Lansing and it is obvious that the state officials have neither the ability nor the desire to "bail us out".

district's accumulated debt and as explained by Superintendent William Bedell: "These funds cannot be used for salary increases or for any other purpose. They can only go to retire the debt."

Bedell went on to explain that the cost for retiring the Bonds would be over an eight year period and would not begin until the next tax year, 1982. He offered the following explanation of what the cost would be to the average Romulus homeowner.

"If your house is worth $40,000, it is on the tax rolls at $20,000. Next year we will levy approximately 2 mills x $20,000 or $40.00 a year to pay the Bonds.

"If you make a family income of $37,000 or less, you will get tax deductions and rebates of at least 60% to 65%, which will make your net cost $16 to $14 a year. This means that, depending on your household income, your weekly cost would range from 27¢ to 77¢. It will decrease each year if our local property value continues to grow as it has the last 20 years," Bedell noted.

Roger Cadaret, a citizen chairman of a committee helping to promote the Bonds, and Dan Bales, Trustee, leading a group of door-to-door volunteers, both report positive reactions to the proposal.

"People want to keep their schools open and this is the best way for us to do it at this time", Bales said. Cadaret reported that many young people from the High School have volunteered to also join in the effort.

The legislation to permit bond sales passed the State Senate and is now going through the House. A hearing will be held in Lansing next Tuesday on the matter so Sandra Langley, Secretary of the Board of Education, reported that once the legislation is passed and if the voters approve it, the next hurdle is to find buyers for the Bonds.

Most observers feel that the surge of positive acceptance of the proposal is being spurred by the closings of the Alpena and Taylor Schools.

Sitting pretty

Perched upon a Continental, 17-year-old Jennifer Mitton is every bit Romulus High's Homecoming Queen. The senior reigned over the weekend festivities which included the traditional dance and managed to smile during a dismal display of her troops against a visiting Oak Park team that routed the Eagles on the gridiron. A honor's student, Miss Mitton also finds time to run track and is a co-captain of the Eagles' cheerleading squad.

Carmichael is Black Studies speaker

Stockley Carmichael will be the keynote speaker at a Black Studies presentation at Washtenaw Community College Thursday, October 29 from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. in the College's Artists' Gallery Dining Room.

The program is open to the public at no charge.

The presentation, "Perspectives on Pan-Africanism," will feature Carmichael and Rovan-Africanism. Carmichael, traveling under diplomatic passport from the Republic of Guinea, West Africa, is the author of "Stockely Speaks: From Black Power to Pan-Africanism."

Locke, associated with the political science department of the University of Michigan, has recently returned from a two year professorship at the University of Nigeria, West Africa. Their discussion will be moderated by Al Roberts of WCC's Black Studies Department.

Views On Dental Health
By PHILIP MEIZELS, D.D.S.

WHY A SPACE MAINTAINER?
A primary tooth (sometimes called a "baby" tooth), normally stays in place until the permanent tooth is ready to replace it. If your child's tooth is lost too soon, your dentist may recommend inserting a "space maintainer" to hold the space open until the permanent tooth can erupt in the proper position.
If a space maintainer is not used, your child can have a number of problems. Over a period of time, the teeth on either side often drift into the empty space. Then, when it is time for the permanent tooth to come in, there is not enough room. This is one cause of malocclusion or "crooked teeth". If teeth drift and become crowded plaque will be hard to remove. This can result in severe tooth decay, and will contribute to periodontal (gum) disease.
Prevention of malocclusion caused by early loss of a primary tooth is simple. On the other hand, if nothing is done to maintain the open space, the resulting crooked teeth could lead to more complicated and expensive orthodontic treatment.

Mindpower

A robot in your future?

By SEN. WILLIAM FAUST
Is there a robot in your future? Perhaps one that washes windows, scrubs floors, tunes up the car and has "Made in Michigan" stamped on its back?

Robots and other high-technology marvels — and ways of manufacturing them in Michigan — are the subject of the Michigan Mindpower Conference to be held at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center on November 3, 1981. Attending the conference will be university experts in a myriad of high technology fields, representatives from business and labor and government officials — all gathered to discuss how to convert technological expertise developed on Michigan campuses into new economic development and jobs for Michigan.

In the past there's been a lot of talk about diversifying Michigan's economy to avoid riding the rollercoaster fortunes of the automobile industry.

While we need to expand and strengthen existing state industries such as agriculture, forestry, mining and tourism, we also need to look for new "industries of the future."

Such industries include the manufacture of plastics, computer hardware, electronic components, bio-medical equipment, industrial robots and machine tools.

These industries are high technology industries, and one way to promote their growth in Michigan is to improve communication between potential entrepreneurs, industry, universities and government.

I believe this conference — which is a bipartisan effort by the Michigan Legislature — is the first step in establishing a solid base for the development of high technology industries in this state.

The heart of the conference will be 10 topic groups where new ideas will be generated and exchanged among people attending the conference. Each group will be led by an expert specializing in the topic from either the University of Michigan, Michigan State, Wayne State or Michigan Technological University. The 10 topic areas are:

- Genetics/Bio-Technology
- Computer Technology
- Human Resources
- Institutional Structure/Technology Transfer
- Transportation Technology
- Material Science Research
- Bio-Engineering/Medical Technology
- Mineral and Wood Products Research
- Agricultural Production/Processing
- Robotics

Kicking off the conference will be state Superintendent of Public Instruction, Phillip Runkel, who will serve as the conference's moderator. Dr. Runkel has also served Michigan education as a teacher, principal and program coordinator.

Following Dr. Runkel will be the presidents and vice-president of four Michigan universities who will speak on the current state of technology. The four are University of Michigan President Harold Shapiro, Michigan Technological University President Dale Stein, Wayne State University President Thomas Bonner and Michigan State University Vice-President for Research and Graduate Studies John Cantlon.

Delivering the keynote address will be Samuel N. Irwin, president of Irwin International, Inc., of Ann Arbor. Mr. Irwin's company develops, manufactures and markets hardware and software products for computer industries.

Mr. Irwin is a successful Michigan entrepreneur who developed the Winchester drive system for small computers and pioneered the "intelligent terminal" concept.

A U-M graduate, Mr. Irwin belongs to several engineering institutes and is a member of the governor's High Technology Task Force.

The Michigan Mindpower Conference is a golden opportunity for university and college personnel to inform leaders in business, labor and government about campus research that relates to economic and job development. If you are interested in learning more about the Michigan Mindpower Conference, contact my Lansing office at (517) 373-7350.

Whale of a winner

Although this whale of a creation on the part of Romulus High's senior class hauled in the First Place Trophy for floats entered at the annual Homecoming Festivities, the whale turned to wails for Romulus football fans who watched their club go down in defeat for the seventh consecutive week at the hands of visiting Oak Park. Coach Don Foley's Eagles have only one last realistic chance to stop their skid, and that opportunity will present itself on Friday when they take on Dearborn Heights Annapolis, a team that has won one of its six previous outings. MESOC moves to new office facility

The Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESOC) is moving from its Northville office to new and larger quarters in Canton this week. MESOC Director S. Martin Taylor said today.

On Monday, October 26, at 8:15 a.m., the office will be open for business at its new location, 8775 Ronda Drive (corner of Joy Road) in Canton. The telephone number will remain the same at (313) 453-3520.

Job seekers and claimants have already been notified of the move, said branch manager Edward Dowling.

The Canton office, formerly located at 15480 N. Sheldon in Northville, will offer the full range of employment services including job referrals, interviewing, counseling, testing and job bank, a computerized listing of area jobs available through MESOC Job Service.

The office will also have the Job Information Service, a library of job finding tips and information, plus local, state and federal civil service announcements. In addition, unemployment benefits to the eligible unemployed will be distributed through the office.

State Police hold auction

Three motorcycles, a kayak, a rowboat, and 29 bicycles are among the items going on the Michigan State Police auction block Thursday, November 5, in the National Guard armory at 2500 S. Washington Avenue in Lansing.

The fall sale of confiscated, unclaimed or otherwise owner-unknown merchandise will begin at 9 a.m. and continue until several hundred lots are sold. Auction lots may include one or more items. The list of items numbers 50 pages and may be viewed at the armory. All pages are not full page listings.

Items on sale include citizen band radios, table and portable radios, television sets, one baby stroller, a child's wagon, a seven foot snowplow with frame, shotguns and rifles, a homemade wood splitter, two refrigerators and a car engine.

Usual offerings in sales of this kind include hand and power tools, sporting equipment, office and household articles, binoculars, clothing, jewelry, watches, cameras, car and truck parts and accessories.

Net proceeds of the sale go into the state treasury. The spring sale in May this year grossed over $6,100.

County sees $300 million as balanced budget

The Wayne County Board of Commissioners this week is scheduled for its annual budget adoption, approving expenditures estimated less than $300 million, but most importantly the commissioners emphasize, it is a budget completely balanced.

Recommended last week after a month of deliberation in their Ways and Means Committee, the Commissioners met to receive the budget and put it aside for the 72 hours required by state statute allowing for objections and changes.

Adoption of the budget, for spending in the 1981-82 fiscal year, is planned for the afternoon of Oct. 29. The county fiscal year begins on Dec. 1.

Most likely, according to county administration, the budget will approximate $285 to $287 million.

The new budget eliminates a $20 million deficit, a problem that has plagued Wayne County since 1979 but which has not increased throughout that period, said Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner. "We've had a deficit but we've held it steady, and finally we've wiped it out," he said.

"Surprises can always occur, but at the moment we don't foresee more deficits for the county," Turner declared.

In another interview, Commissioner Ervin A. Steiner, Jr. called the county "the best-run government in the State." Although the county has only limited taxing power, "it is living within its revenue," he stated.

"The Board of Education (Detroit), with taxing powers, has a $35 million deficit. The City of Detroit, with an income tax, admits to a $150 million deficit. The State, with an income tax, admits to a $700 million deficit," said Steiner.

In the budget, the Ways and Means Committee exceeded recommendations by the Board of Auditors, but still appropriated considerably less than amounts requested by department heads and agencies for other public services funded by the county.

Chief among increases over last year proposed by either the Auditors or the Board of Commissioners were court appropriations. Most other services were entirely denied or diminished considerably during the Ways and Means meetings.

Probate Court, however, was granted almost $100,000. Juvenile Court over $700,000, and Recorder's Court $345,000 including programs of the pre-sentence division unit.

Adult felony probation services received $23,000 but the largest court cost of all was $250,000 for additions and remodeling to provide space for the new 36th District Court.

As much as $20,000 was denied to other court programs, as was also the joint Detroit Wayne County Mental Health Services Board, and almost $30,000 for the County Library Board.

Of all departments, the largest expense requests were denied the County Clerk and Sheriff's departments. The Clerk wanted but did not receive approval for more than $780,000, and the Sheriff's request for an additional $1.1 million was disapproved.

Until final adoption, of course, all requests, denials and increases are tentative and subject to amendments.

Mayor Emerson, Sup. Reeves back 'ECE' proposal

Several area public officials have endorsed "Proposal 1," the November 3 ballot issue which would provide for an elected Wayne County chief executive.

The group includes: Belleville Mayor Justin Emerson and the City Council; Canton Township Supervisor James Poole and the Township Board; Sumpter Township Supervisor James Reeves and the Township Board; Wayne City Manager Thomas Daily; Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen and the Township Board; and Plymouth City Manager Henry Graper.

The officials join numerous labor, business, civic and public officials who have called for approval of the ballot proposal. Many have labeled the proposal as providing the opportunity for the first major reform in Wayne County government in modern history.

Wayne County voters next Tuesday will be asked to approve a new charter for the county as well as decide whether the chief executive should be elected or appointed.

George E. Ward, chairman of Citizens for an Elected Wayne County Executive, said he is particularly pleased with the support from officials throughout the Wayne County area.

Ward said, "We are delighted with this overwhelming expression of support from local government leaders for the notion that 'Proposal 1' represents a better way of governing Wayne County."

The proposal is also supported by Wayne County Charter Commissioner Bart Berg, who represents the westside area.

Trick or treat?

Sesame Street characters joined a host of others at Edgemont Elementary School as the Auto Club brought the crucial message of safety during the annual "Trick or Treat" trek through the streets. AAA employees from Ypsilanti branch talked to pupils and stressed upon them the importance of making costumes of bright colors so that they can be seen in the darkness and cautioned children that they should be accompanied by a parent or an older brother or sister. In reality, Big Bird (above) is Trish Brugger, Cookie Monster is Linda Parker, while the others from Sesame include Oscar the Grouch, Ginny Morales; Leopard, Linda Adams; Cowgirl, Teresa O'Quinn; Mummy, Mary Lapan, and Strawberry Shortcake, Marion Burch. The kindergarten teacher is Dorothy Cattell.

Auto Club takes Halloween safety message to Edgemont

The Automobile Club of Michigan's Ypsilanti employees donned Halloween attire and visited local schools and hospitals this week to continue the "Light Up A Life" tradition that was started last year, and to issue their annual Halloween safety message.

"Last year Auto Club employees across the state hosted Halloween parties for hospitalized youngsters and for schools and the elderly in nursing homes as well," said Tom O'Hara, Ypsilanti manager. "The response was tremendous and we looked forward to doing it again this year."

O'Hara emphasized that Halloween, can be a fun time of the year if some simple trick-or-treating rules are followed.

"One important rule is to avoid masks that obscure vision and use makeup to paint children's faces," O'Hara said. He listed the following tips for a safe Halloween night:

—Arm young trick-or-treaters with flashlights to make them more visible to motorists.

—Make costumes of bright colors so they can be seen in darkness and keep them short enough so they won't trip tiny feet.

— Apply luminous paint or tape to youngsters' costumes to make them even more visible.

— Be sure that children are accompanied by a parent, older brother or sister.

— Caution children to trick-or-treat only on streets which are well-lighted.

— Instruct youngsters to cross only at intersections, after looking both ways first, and to walk facing traffic if there is no sidewalk.

— Caution youngsters to wait until they get home to sort, check and eat their treats, allowing parents time to examine them carefully.

Teacher backs bond proposal

EDITOR—As a long time teacher in your community schools, I have seen past times of crisis in Romulus. The present, however, may well be the worst.

We can't let Romulus become another Taylor. The average homeowner will pay but 50 cents per week to keep schools open. If schools close, property values will decrease and everyone in Romulus will lose.

I have always seen Romulus as a hard working, solid community. Let's keep Romulus alive and well. I hope you will cast a yes vote on the bond issue November 3. The young people of Romulus deserve their turn at receiving an education.

HARRY WILLNUS
Social Studies Dept.
Romulus High School

Solution to school problems

EDITOR — So much has been written and said about the Romulus school situation and no solution has ever been presented adequately to alleviate this problem. All this leaves us in a quandary about the means to bring about a just solution.

First I want to bring this fact before you. A child must attend school until they reach the age of 16 years. Mind you this is a law mandated by the state and school authorities. In this regard a parent has no choice. Just as soon as a child attains school age they are required to attend school. This is the states and the authorities of the schools responsibility to uphold this law.

Now, what about the parents? When there is no school for their children to attend? Who can they petition so their children could attend school? How does this look? First the child must attend school, and then there is no school for them to attend.

Who are the state, city, and districts really concerned with? The children? Or themselves? This seems to be a political issue with the responsibility being shifted so that the school closing is not directly attributed to anyone.

Don't let it happen here

EDITOR — It seems incredible that children can be locked out of school because of lack of money in this age of science and technology. Yet that is now a reality for Alpena and may soon be happening here in Romulus.

A concerned group of citizens have come together to form the Assembly of Citizens for Education (A.C.E.) We believe that a communication gap exists in this Community and that few people are aware of the facts surrounding the school crisis.

A community meeting to learn the facts concerning the bond issue on the Nov. 3 ballot and the possible school closings will be at City Hall on Friday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. Members of the School Board and the Board Superintendent will be there to answer questions.

This meeting will give a more detailed, localized view of our problems, while the Oct. 29 meeting with Senator Faust at the High School will focus on the State level. The ACE meeting will also discuss a community trip to Lansing to demonstrate our concern to our lawmakers. It is felt that by going as a body of citizens who are not satisfied with our present state of affairs, this trip will have a strong impact on State Legislators and may result in legislative action on the school funding issue now.

Our School District's problems are not unique, but the fact that the community is working to understand and dissolve them is. Romulus is a good place to live in and bring up children.

If we all work together on the school problems facing us now, it will be even better. If we stand by and do nothing, our children will be the ones who will pay the price of our non-involvement. The future is still in our hands. Let us work together to make it good.

PAT DITSCH
Assembly of Citizens for Education

Romulus group supports bond issue
'Ace' to send its representatives to Lansing

There's a new group in town. And it's using an "ACE" to trump any opposition against the Romulus schools' bond proposal that will appear on Tuesday, Nov. 3's ballot.

The schools are asking Romulus voters for approval to sell $3 million in bonds to raise monies for general operations. It is the first time a school district has ever gone to the public for funds in this unique manner.

"ACE was formed about two weeks ago when it became evident to some concerned parents that a communication gap existed and because the schools were on the verge of closing, yet few people knew it at the time," said Patricia Ditsch, chairperson of 'ACE.'

"The purpose of ACE," she continued, is to inform the Romulus residents of the School situation, then unite it to go to Lansing to show their concern to State Legislators. Later a committee of citizens will meet with Legislators to find some solutions to the District's problems."

Mrs. Ditsch pointed out that some ways of educating the public who did not attend various Open Houses held in the schools where Board members were present and those who do not have children in school are to send out letters stating the certainty of schools closing, and urging citizens who did not know the facts or who had questions to attend a Community meeting.

The meeting is slated for Oct. 30 at 7:00 at City Hall.

City officials, candidates, and business leaders are urged to attend to show their concern and to help unite the Community to share a common goal of making the quality of education better.

Information tables are located at Bilmar's Supermarket and Manufacturer's Bank on the corners of Goddard and Shook Roads, and Security Bank on Wayne Road near the High School. Volunteers will distribute fact sheets and information on the state of the School District, and urge those with questions to attend the Oct. 30 meeting to talk with School Board members.

This meeting will give a detailed, localized view of the situation, while the Oct. 29 meeting at the high school with Senator William Faust will focus on the state's view.

Our Opinions

Wayne County needs that new charter

Reform of Wayne County's troubled and often directionless system of government is finally on the horizon in the form of Wayne County Charter Commission proposals on next Tuesday's election ballot.

Voters are asked to choose between an elected or appointed chief executive officer, who would have the authority to manage County business. We favor the election of such an officer since that official would answer to the electorate rather than the whims of a Board of Commissioners.

In addition, we urge the passage of a number of reforms that would: reduce the number of County Commissioners from 27 to 15; provide the executive with power to appoint and veto and give the Commission power to confirm and override; offer a provision whereby County expenses could not exceed County income, and establish a personnel system with merit safeguards.

It is our opinion that the election of a chief executive officer would relieve commissioners of their present administrative duties, thereby requiring a fewer number of commissioners. Installing a system of checks and balances between the officer and the commissioners seems a reasonable method of running an efficient, cost conscious government.

We commend the commissioners for drafting these charter propositions and having them placed before an electorate that has been confused over the County's sometimes chaotic handling of its affairs.

With approval for these reforms, notably the election of a chief executive officer and a reduction in the number of commissioners, the County will take a major step towards correcting flaws in the present charter.

The time for reforming the County charter is now.

Guest Editorial

Farmland 'levy' is another tax

If I may venture an opinion, I must disagree with your observation that "More controversy is the last thing the Farm Land Preservation issue needs in Canton."

My dictionary defines "Controversy" as "a dispute, especially a lengthy and public one, between sides holding opposing views". I feel that this is precisely what is needed in order to inform the voters of Canton Township so that they may be fully informed before casting their Ballot on this very important issue.

I say very important since this little understood Proposal will impose a debt of $19,658,750.00 on the residents of Canton for a period of 20 years! That is what I call very important.

It is actually a very camouflaged attempt to raise the Millage anywhere from 1.55 Mills to 1.85 Mills. These are not my projections. They are the expert opinions of the Firm of Stauder, Barch & Associates, Municipal Bond Financial and Marketing Consultants. The Consultants responded to the request of the Canton Finance Director in a letter dated September 29, 1981. They set forth the Millage projection and the schedules of interest at 13 percent over a twenty year period.

I say camouflaged, since the Township Officials who are pushing this costly Proposition are relying on newspapers and letters (at Township expense) to present "Both sides of the issue". The fact of the matter is that they are spending taxpayer money on literature, stamps, and public employee wages to get the measure passed.

WHY DIDN'T THEY JUST SAY SO ON THE BALLOT?

The American Voter will bite the bullet, and do the right thing if they are told the Truth. When in doubt they vote NO. I urge that they vote NO on November 3, 1981.

I say camouflaged because the Resolution the Trustees passes on 9-8-81 says,

"The Principal and Interest of said Obligation Bonds shall be payable from the General Funds of the Township and the Township is required by Law to levy sufficient Ad Valorem Taxes, if necessary, for the Payment upon all taxable property in the Township without limitation as to Rate or Amount."

To "Levy" is to tax.

"All taxable property" means every house, parcel and non exempt business in Canton Township. "Without limitation as to Rate or Amount" means that a YES vote is just like signing a blank check for $19,000,000 dollars and putting the Township in hock for at least 20 years.

Why aren't the officials who are pushing this boondoggle telling the voters these facts?

Nineteen Million Dollars would pay for a lot of park, police, sewer, fire or school bills in the next 20 years!

Frank Bennett

Support seniors

It used to be that everything was permissible if you were one of the lucky ones to reach the "golden years" and join the elite senior citizens club.

Considering the alternative to growing old, it doesn't despair most of us to see a few more wrinkles or grey hairs. But there are anxieties with each passing year.

With a depressed economy, senior citizens are usually among the hardest hit. On one hand they are oft sought after by the politicians because seniors usually are the ones who will go to the polls and, ironically, when budget cuts are made their programs are among the first to go.

But the seniors in Westland want to put a stop to what they believe is an injustice caused by bureaucratic government who understandably must kowtow to Washington. In Westland, the once nationally-known program for seniors has become one that has fallen on hard times.

The reason is a simple one from a budget of $250,000, seniors now are allocated $37,000 for city-sponsored programs.

"These cuts have forced reductions in and elimination of many services which are vital to the well-being of many of our older citizens," said David Wiacek, director of the Commission on Aging.

Those cuts are not only felt in Westland, but the repercussions of Reagan's economics have hurt most surrounding areas and the state.

But Westland seniors are fighting back. They have asked for and received permission from City Council to place on the Nov. 3 general election ballot a proposition which would amend the city charter so that the city would be able to levy an additional 33/100ths of one mill to be "used exclusively for providing activities and/or services to older persons, and to be levied each year for a period of 10 years commencing on July 1, 1982."

"In this manner then," Wiacek stressed, "the seniors will have assured themselves of funds for financing their programs. With each election and with each administration on the federal or any other level, seniors are always in jeopardy that the services they receive will not be funded."

Some of the vital programs include Meals on Wheels, Homemaker Programs and help to the visually handicapped and disabled, among other things.

You can bet that the seniors will be out in force for this one. And there is no camouflaging of issues. If the proposal is approved, the programs for the seniors will be there; if not...

"Let me say this, we are not going to beg anyone anymore," Wiacek said. "We believe our seniors deserve and earn more than we can ever give them."

And so do we.

Legislators know how to spend your tax dollars

by LEWIS K. UHLER

It's that time of the year again for our federal bureaucrats — the end of the fiscal year — and that means another spending spree. But unlike the Christmas gift buying spree most of us go through each year, the bureaucrats do it with their own money.

When bureaucrats go on a spree, they do it with vengeance. In the last two months of FY 1979, the Department of Housing and Urban Development obligated 47.2 percent of its annual budget. In those same two months, the Environmental Protection Agency spent 41.7 percent of its budget, the Department of Commerce spent 30.03 percent, and the Department of the Interior spent 23.1 percent.

In its study "Spending for FY 1977," the General Accounting Office discovered that nearly 60 percent of the overall budget for supplies and materials, across the federal government, was spent in the last month of the fiscal year. Also, 50 percent of the annual obligations for grants, subsidies, and contributions were made in the final quarter, with almost 35 percent of the year's total occurring in the final month.

The GAO determined that year-end spending sprees are accompanied by: — the funding of low-priority projects, including those that failed to meet cost-benefit criteria during the initial budget review process;

— drawing up "wish lists" of products and services, massive stockpiling, and dumping of furniture and equipment;

— funding of contracts months ahead of actual need and, in some cases, before a contractor has ever been selected;

— prerecording future obligations, suggesting a fictitiously high level of program activity;

Even if one considers the possibility of federal agencies holding out until the last possible moment to buy the sorely-needed paperclips, this still indicates just how over-funded federal agencies are.

All of these and more are described in detail in the National Tax Limitation Committee's 254-page book, "Meeting America's Economic Crisis: A 'Road Map' to Emergency Federal Spending Reductions" ($6.95 Caroline House).

In 1980, then Congressman Herbert Harris of Virginia introduced a bill which authorized the Office of Management and Budget to make sure that agencies spend no more than 20 percent of their annual budget in the last two months of the fiscal year. It is estimated that restricting fourth quarter spending-surges would save taxpayers $18.9 billion a year.

Clearly, the "hows" of federal spending are nearly as important as the "how much." Curtailing such fiscal extravagances will do a great deal to bring bureaucratic waste under control.

What is possibly the worst example of such year-end waste, I saved for last: On the last business day of FY 1979, the Department of the Interior awarded a $145,000 consulting contract for a program to help it avoid year-end spending sprees!

(Note: Lewis K. Uhler is President of the National Tax Limitation Committee, the sponsor of a Constitutional amendment to limit permanently federal spending and taxes.)

'Yes' on Romulus bond proposal urged

EDITOR—My name is Richard Campbell, a senior citizen who is very concerned about what happens in our city. I am also the Treasurer of the School Board and a member of "Our Community Counts Committee."

The Committee is a citizens' group formed to promote passage of the School Bond Proposal on your November 3 ballot, which will pay off our past accumulated debt so that our schools can continue to operate and give our children the education they deserve and need.

The bond money will pay off the huge debt that accumulated over the last three years caused by the economy, inflation, reduction in State aid and Federal funds. Failure to pass the Bond Proposal will result in the closing of all schools in November for an indefinite period of time.

The School Board has closed schools, adjusted bus runs, laid off teachers, administrators, other personnel, and cut spending in an effort to balance expenditures and income. The Board is succeeding in this area, but still must eliminate the $3 million debt before our school district will be financially sound. The money can only be used to pay debt; no other purpose such as salary increases, etc.

Many people feel that the State will help Romulus and other school districts in the same trouble as we, but it just is not true. The State will not bail us out. We must do it ourselves, and that is exactly what we are trying to do with the Bond Issue.

The cost will be less than 50 cents a week beginning next year. For such a low price, we just cannot risk our children's educational needs, our city's image, and our property values.

Please consider our children when you cast your vote. Help us to help ourselves.

Requiem for a police agency

EDITOR—The other day I received a notice that Wayne County was selling off the Sheriff's police patrol cars. The vehicles were available for viewing at the Road Patrol Headquarters at Henry Ruff and Michigan Avenue, so I went to have a look.

The scene was like something from a Hemingway novel.

The morning was overcast with drizzling rain. The normal hustle and bustle of activity was absent. Wet leaves were stuck to the windows of rows of empty police cars. Each had a tag explaining what equipment was on the vehicle, and the bid price. Every conceivable piece of mobile equipment was parked there; motorcycles, horse trailers, boats and trailers, all emblazoned with the Wayne County Sheriff's emblem, but no Wayne County deputies were there. The officers have been laid off, or moved to the jail downtown.

I decided to walk into the Headquarters Building. The once busy nerve center of a fine police agency was deserted except for one desk and two civilians taking orders for the vehicles. The large front desk normally manned by several officers and handling hundreds of people in a days time, was gutted. The drawers were pulled out and papers strewn on the floor. As I walked through the building, I saw office after office of bare walls and empty desks.

On the second level I heard a crackle from a radio and walked into what was once the communication center, linking all the bureau patrol units, and some police agencies via a very sophisticated radio system. Everyone was gone, and equipment was being stripped. One console was on and I heard a sound from it, but no one was there to answer. It gave me an eerie feeling as I walked through the building and thought of things as I had seen them before, busy, almost hectic, and now vacant.

I wondered to myself, what about all those people they were supplying police service to, what are they doing. What about all those cases, the investigations, what happened to them. I wondered also, what about the deputies, those men and women that had chosen this as a career. Many of whom has spent years in this facility building a fine law enforcement organization.

It was a very sad experience to witness the ruins of the Sheriff's Patrol and Investigation Division. I hoped that people who were once served by them are somehow managing. I know most communities including my own are scurrying to try to take up the slack and provide our own 24 hour police protection.

I know many of the officers have left the state to seek other employment and remain in the police service. To those men and women I wish them well, for they know better than I that Wednesday, October 21, 1981 was indeed a dark day for law enforcement in Wayne County.

Inkster parents are commended

EDITOR—Parents, Concerned Citizens, teachers, administrators, students, and district employees of the Inkster School District have been attending weekly School Board meetings for the past several weeks.

What is unique is that the various groups have presented carefully thought through proposals for the resolution of the District's dilemma of how to manage in light of the Governor's Executive Order for cuts in State aid for education.

These parents and concerned people are to be complimented and encouraged for their efforts. We need each other and no one of us have all of the answers. By sharing and exchanging ideas we can "get it together, together" and make Inkster Schools great. There is much to be done and we dare not rest until it is done.

Blood drive was a success

EDITOR—The 1981 Belleville Community Blood Drive annually sponsored by the BPW is over and it was a success!

What a wonderful compassionate gesture to have friends of Cynthia Kline come in, sign a get-well card for her, and then donate blood.

You are beautiful people and on behalf of the Belleville BPW, we publicly thank all who helped in any way to provide this successful community project.

We appreciate the help of The Associated Newspapers and Lee Smith of your staff.

Mayor Emerson on city charter

EDITOR—Should the City of Belleville rewrite the City Charter to provide for a City Manager type government?

As Mayor of Belleville for the past six years and having had the opportunity to be involved in the day to day operation of the city and to observe the operation of other cities, it is my opinion that this is the way to go, for the following reasons.

Presently the Mayor and Council function on a part-time basis, which makes it difficult to be close enough to the day-to-day operation so that the proper decisions can be made.

This places the burden of the operation of the department heads without any coordination. In many cases the responsibilities overlay. It is my opinion that they need more support than the part-time Mayor and Council can possibly provide.

A City Manager type of government should provide a person on a full-time basis who is educated and trained in municipal government and all its phases. He should be responsible to the Mayor and Council. A new charter should spell out how his responsibilities are to be carried out.

Following are some questions and answers which may arise which are correct only in my opinion and subject to provision in the new charter.

What happens to the Mayor and Council? They will be elected in the same manner as they are now but their responsibilities will be more of policies than the day to day operation of the City.

How will the City finance this change? By reorganizing the offices of the clerk and Treasurer, I feel we can provide $10,000 to $15,000 toward the salary of a Manager.

The manager should assume the budget responsibility. This now for the most part is provided by the City accountants. A manager who has some knowledge of engineering would save some of those costs. The manager would also review and interpret ordinances which is now done by the attorney and also improve the purchasing policies.

In my opinion a City Manager would not increase the cost of operations in the City government. What salary would be required by a City Manager? $23,000 to $26,000 per year.

There will be a hearing type meeting at City Hall on Tuesday.

To answer your questions, telephone 697-9323 or 697-9577.

Support urged for bond issue

EDITOR—During my 28 year tenure as a member of the Board of Education, I was privileged to share in the development of the fine programs offered over the years by the Romulus Community Schools. The active support of the people of Romulus has permitted the staff to give our children an adequate education, especially vocational training, to enable them to pursue further education and become independent, self-supporting adults.

I am distressed that these programs might become unavailable to students through lack of funds. A result of continued state revenue decreases for two years, the Governor's latest reduction on October 22 of an additional $50,000, the cutbacks in federal participation, and declining enrollment, Romulus finds itself facing this predicament.

The State Aid formula does not help, wither. As your local property value increases, the formula goes down by exactly the same amount of money. This means that, even if your house is assessed an additional amount, none of that money comes to your school district because State Aid is reduced by the same amount.

Your Board of Education and Superintendent William Bedell have availed themselves of a law passed by the Legislature many years ago to help the Detroit Public Schools, but not used since then. That law has permitted the Romulus Board of Education to place a proposal on the November 3 ballot to sell bonds to eliminate the district's accumulated $3 million operating deficit. Voter approval of the proposal will clear away a three-year deficit, bringing the district out of debt, and enabling it to start with a clean slate.

The cost to taxpayers will be approximately two mills, beginning in September, 1982 (next year's taxes), and the required levy will decrease as the city tax base increases. The net cost is about 50 cents per week for the average homeowner. The bonds will have eight years' life.

This letter is a plea, not only to the citizens of Romulus, but to all public officials and candidates for public office as well, to unite in the movement for adequate funds to continue for the children of this city and, indeed, for all people of the community, the benefits only a well-rounded education can provide. Remember—our children are the most precious assets we have!

Wayne Homecoming coverage hit

EDITOR—In regards to the Wayne Eagle's coverage of Wayne Memorial's Homecoming, where were the pictures of this annual event?

I helped build the first place Sophomore Class float and was stunned by the fact that our float received such a brief mention. The whole event could have been missed if not for the picture of Jennifer Dailey 1981 Homecoming Queen.

Many students, teachers, and parents put a lot of time and effort into these floats and other entries of the Homecoming Parade.

I'm sure many others share my feelings.

Supervision at bus stop needed

EDITOR—This letter is directed to the parents of most of the children who catch the Savage School 9 a.m. bus on the corner of Burtrige and Martinsville Roads in Belleville.

For the three years that we have lived here, there has been a problem at that bus stop. The children steal the marked spots of others, fight, push and shove, throw things at the signs and trees and break bottles on the road. They play in the road and run into the road teasing the cars and swear among themselves and to me if I say anything to them.

Every year I complain to the bus driver and the principal of Savage School. They have both talked to the children, but it does not help. This year, the bus driver said she can't do anything else as she has enough trouble on the bus. Mr. Stapleton, the principal, said he will talk to them again.

I watch my daughter every day at that stop and every day something happens.

Sooner or later someone is going to get hurt. Is that what it will take before you talk to your children about their behavior? Don't you care how they act or are you just happy to get them out of the house?

If this letter upsets you—good—maybe you'll be mad enough to try to talk to your children and try to correct their behavior. It is worth it to try and help our children grow up to be nice people. I wish you luck.

Chambers support Home Rule concept

EDITOR—The West Suburban Area Council of Chambers has announced its support for the Home Rule Charter with an elected executive for Wayne County.

The West Suburban Area Council of Chambers is composed of the following Chambers: Belleville, Canton, Farmington, Livonia, Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Redford Township, Romulus, Wayne, and Westland.

Of those communities located in Wayne County, through the resolution process, a strong majority of those Chambers supported the concept of the Home Rule Charter with an elected executive.

Frank A. McMurray, President of the West Suburban Area Council of Chambers states, "Since the beginning of our organization, we have looked for areas which overlap the boundaries of the communities involved in the council. The Charter issue has been discussed for a considerable length of time and we believe that by going on record in support of the elected executive and the Home Rule Charter, we justify our existence. We urge everyone to go to the polls on November 3 and make their choice."

For further information, contact Frank McMurray, 455-2244.

Reflections

A woman's work is....

The alarm went off, blasting me from the world of dreams, and shaking awake my sleeping spouse.

"What the hell," he muttered. "I'm not going anywhere."

"I have to get the kid up," I told him, and suggested he go back to sleep, but, instead he crawled out of bed and ran for fifteen minutes in front of the mirror. Grumbling all the time.

During that fifteen minutes I had called our youngest, pulled the covers off her, tickled her under the chin, and finally yelled. Naturally this got her up and she gripped all the way to the bathroom about mothers who yell at their peacefully sleeping children, and ruining the whole day.

Her retired father, who loves to cook, went downstairs and by the sound of the noises coming up from the kitchen, wasn't able to find whatever it was he was looking for.

But I was too busy to go down and help because my youngest was pulling my strings upstairs. "Where's the shampoo, Motherrrrrr..." "I can't find the talcum powder...Motherrrrrr..." "Who took my pink blouse. You know I was going to wear that pink blouse..."

"Get on down here, I need help..." "Motherrrrrr, where are my Calvin Klein's..."

Poised at the top of the stairs I had a moment of panic. I didn't know which way to go.

"Relax," I whispered to myself, and to my kid, I said, "Why don't you look in that pile of clothes by the side of the bed. It seems to me I heard someone say they spotted Calvin Klein hiding there one day..."

"Oh, funnee..."

"Hey," came the bellows from downstairs. "Where's the coffee?"

"Probably in the flour cannister," I said with my usual sweetness as I went through the kitchen door.

"What's it doing in the flour cannister?"

"I didn't have any flour..."

Breakfast was good. That is, they said it was good, for while my youngest sat at the breakfast table, a towel wrapped around her wet hair, and reading Ann Landers, and her father sat on the other side reading the front page. I had agreed to press the elusive Calvin Klein. I hadn't actually agreed. I had been coerced.

"Deanna's mother always irons her clothes," my kid said.

"Deanna lives alone," I said.

"I know it, but that doesn't mean her mother can't iron her clothes." Naturally I didn't press the jeans just right.

"Oh motherrrrr. Gosh will I be glad to get out of here. I can't wait until I get my own apartment. I might as well tell you I'm not going to school next semester, so don't insist. I'm going to get a job and get out of here."

She emphasized the last sentence with a particularly vicious jab at Calvin, and then whipped upstairs, where it took her another two hours to get dressed.

"I'm late," she shrieked as she came running down stairs. "What's Dad doing?"

MONA GRIGG

when they are right on both counts. Sometimes what you've bought has been a steal . . . and other times it's been a terrible mistake.

Sometimes you find you've paid big bucks for a reproduction passed off as an antique. Now that's cheating—unless the dealer really didn't know—in which case he should be willing to give you your money back. Or you might find a crack or a break you hadn't noticed before and most things bought at flea markets are bought "as is" or somehow you missed the little "Made in Taiwan" stencil.

When that happens, there is some consolation in reminding yourself of the Antiquer's Slogan: "If you liked it enough to buy it, and you enjoy it...it was worth it."

If, however, you find no consolation in that slogan, and you are ending up with more trash than treasures, there is one other thing you can do.

You can always rent a space at the flea market...

things and put them down again. They find their fun in becoming carnival barkers and medicine show performers.

They can spot a new customer a mile away. First time flea marketees are usually the ones who listen with rapt attention as the dealer performs. They almost never walk away. Then, at the end of the spiel, they feel so guilty for having taken so much of the dealer's time, they can't help but buy whatever it was he was spilling about.

Now, mind you, these first-timers haven't been conned...nor have they been fleeced. They have simply been...persuaded.

To the latent adventurer, the local flea markets are the bazaars of Baghdad, of Marrakesh—the Casbahs of the suburbs. There is an irresistible element of danger here, as in "A fool and his money are soon parted" and the thrill comes in escaping relatively unscathed with a veritable treasure secreted away in a sack.

One can hardly wait to get to his means of conveyance (In lieu of a donkey cart, mine happens to be a car. They seem to frown on donkey carts in this part of the country), for fear someone will come running, shouting, "Stop, thief!" or "Wait! There's been a terrible mistake!" And, as it happens, there are times of those" is a phrase heard over and over again in flea markets. It can be taken two ways: If it is said with a sneer, the dealer turns to other customers, knowing that the speaker never thought it was worth much, even in grandmother's possession.

If, however, that same statement is uttered in tones reverential, the dealer suspects he may have something here. He immediately reminds the buyer (she is a potential buyer now) of the past tense, "used to have."

He also reminds the buyer that these particular widgets are becoming increasingly scarce. He (the dealer) had a devil of a time finding even this one. He may never find one again.

"This would cost you a fortune any place else," and "I thought about keeping it myself" are two phrases heard most often from the dealer's side of the tables. If you are new at this, you are apt to carry around—along with your packages—a lot of guilt until you realize that it's all part of the game.

There's a lot of rascality in flea market dealers. They are not necessarily con men, although I suppose you could find them here as well as anywhere I think it's more that they tend to get a little bored just standing around watching people pick up

Come with us to the Casbah

A few weeks ago, at a certain flea market just west of here, I picked up four kitchen chairs for 1/4¢. (Garage sales and flea marketees always say "picked up" instead of "bought" when they think they got a real bargain.)

The chairs are real wood and just the right size and freshly painted in a color that blends nicely with our kitchen. They are just what I was looking for, and I would have gladly paid twice the price or more if that was what the dealer had been asking.

But the real selling point was that they were almost exactly like the chairs in the kitchen of the house my family lived in when I started kindergarten. There were instant happy memories associated with those chairs.

Nostalgia, if you will. (Dictionary definition of "nostalgia": a longing for things, persons, or situations that are not present.)

Too bad the dealer in question didn't know about the kitchen in the house I lived in when I started kindergarten. Flea market dealers are big on nostalgia. Nostalgia pays. They know that half the people who frequent flea markets come there because they want to be around the things their grandmothers used to have.

Oakwood Hospital offers cost-free tests for diabetes

In recognition of Diabetes Detection Week, Nov. 1-7, cost-free screening tests for diabetes, the nation's third leading cause of death according to the American Diabetes Association, will be offered at the Oakwood Hospital Family Medical Center, 19130 Sumpter Road, Sumpter Township.

The test will be given on Monday, Nov. 2, and Tuesday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m.-12 noon. Taking only a minute or two, it consists of having blood drawn from the arm.

Test results will be forwarded to the American Diabetes Association, which, in turn, sends results of positive tests to the patient's physician.

An appointment is not necessary for the tests, which are usually not available to anyone under 12 years of age. Those who are between 12 and 18 years should be accompanied by an adult.

A high carbohydrate meal heavy in starches and sugar is recommended two hours before the test for most accurate results. Between the meal and test, the patient should avoid drinking anything, except water, or eating or smoking.

Breakfast could be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea, according to the American Diabetes Association. A person planning to take the test after lunch could have soup, a sandwich, cake or pie, and a glass of milk.

In its simplest definition, diabetes is a disease which prevents the body from producing sufficient insulin in order to convert the sugars and starches we eat into energy necessary for normal body functions.

Common symptoms of diabetes include frequent urination, abnormal thirst, rapid weight loss, extreme hunger, itching, general weakness, blurred vision and slow-healing infections.

While diabetes can occur at any age, prime candidates are those who are over 40 years of age, overweight, a blood relative of a diabetic or women who have given birth to a baby weighing more than nine pounds.

The American Diabetes Association, however, warns that some diabetics, especially those who are middle-aged or older, may experience none of these signs. Symptoms usually attributable to aging — such as that "run-down feeling" — may, in fact, indicate diabetes.

There are an estimated 10 million diabetics in the United States, while an estimated 200,000 persons in Michigan have diabetes and don't know it.

Diabetes also is the leading cause of new blindness and a major factor in heart disease, circulatory problems and kidney disorders.

Program offers area nurses chance to update skills

Nurses, who have not actively participated in their profession for many years, are now having an opportunity to update their skills and knowledge because of a program currently underway at Oakwood Hospital in Dearborn.

The Department of Quality Assurance, one of six departments within Oakwood's Division of Nursing, is conducting a refresher program for nurses. It began Monday, Oct. 19, and continues for eight weeks.

"I thought the program was an opportunity to improve the nursing shortage by giving those who have been out of nursing an opportunity to get back in," said Loretta Lee, assistant vice president for nursing.

At the same time, Mrs. Lee, who initially developed the plan, said a similar program is not offered by many institutions, while stressing the service it provides to the community.

A major focus is on changes in hospitals and methods of care, with many of the 14 participants in Oakwood's program having been out of nursing from four to 25 years.

They participate four days a week, Monday through Thursday, from 9 a.m. - 2:30 p.m. Two days are devoted to classroom training and two days to clinical experience, with attention being devoted to updating skills in the medical and surgical areas.

Many of the participants stopped working when their children were born and left the profession to devote time to raising their families, said Catherine Bradbury, clinical director, quality assurance and nursing education.

Now, with their children raised and more independent, they want to become active again because nursing is their chosen profession, she said.

'Wait Until Dark' spotlights local talent

A number of local performers will be featured in the Plymouth Theatre Guild's presentation of "Wait Until Dark," which opens this Friday at the Central Middle School in downtown Plymouth.

Other performances of Frederick Knott's mystery will be held on Saturday (Oct. 31), Nov. 6, 7, 13 and 14 with all shows beginning at 8 p.m. Following is a brief background on some of the cast members:

TOBIN HISSONG—A graduate of Cherry Hill High School, he will portray Mike Talman in his debut with the Plymouth Theatre Guild. Hissong is no stranger to the stage, having been active in the Wayne-Westland Civic Theatre, most recently portraying Count Dracula in "Dracula" and Kiroly in Woody Allen's "Don't Drink the Water."

The 23-year-old Canton actor performed with the Dearborn Civic Theatre and the Dearborn Players Guild last summer.

JERRY BILLINGSLEY—This former theatre major from Western Kentucky University will make his Michigan debut as Sgt. Carlino. Billingsley has worked in dinner theatres and summer stock throughout the South.

VESTUS SPINDLER III—A Michigan State University graduate, Spindler has served as actor, director and designer in nearly 50 different productions over a span of 18 years. Spindler, who earned a master's degree in theatre from Eastern Michigan University, is the chairman of the Northville Arts Commission.

DAVID IDE—Ide rates as a jack-of-all-trades in the Plymouth Theatre Guild, having worked in almost every aspect of theatre including set construction, lighting, crew and directing. He has served on the board of directors for the Plymouth Theatre Guild for three years and has designed many of the group's posters and program covers.

The Canton resident received the drama key for his theatrical efforts at Salem High School and was the president of the International Thespian Society.

JANEN BOOTH—"Wait Until Dark" audiences will view Mrs. Booth's director's skills in her initial effort for the Plymouth Guild. She began her stage career at the age of 11 and has worked professionally as a model and in television commercials. A Canton resident, Mrs. Booth has acted and directed a number of productions in Dearborn.

CLEMIE CYBURT—Producer of "Wait Until Dark," Mrs. Cyburt is a lifetime Plymouth Guild member. During her 14-year association with the group, this Canton resident has held the posts of president and vice-president. Recently she directed the Plymouth Guild's productions of "Night of January 16th" and "Pale Pink Dragon."

Tickets, priced at $4 for adults and $3.50 for students and senior citizens, are available by contacting Karen Groves at 420-2161. Group sales are offered at reduced rates.

What's That Sound?

By STEVE O'LEARY

Hey, this guy's goooooood!

STEVE MARTIN
"The Steve Martin Brothers"
(Warner Brothers)

There are a few different ways to review comedy albums. One can delve into the social significance of the piece, critically analyzing its every word, and one can also be very shallow about the affair, simply stating that, yes, it is funny, or no, I'll never play it again.

I have chosen still another way of reviewing this album, one which requires quite a lot of quoting from bits. This is also known as the "easy way".

Truthfully, Steve Martin's fourth LP isn't entirely a comedy outing, as one side of it is strictly musical, showing off Martin's admirable ability on the banjo. While this is enjoyable, I don't think many of his fans would prefer this to more comedy material, but maybe that's the point — not enough material. But no matter, because what is here is primo Martin, guaranteed to bust a gut.

Take for instance, Steve's patriotic statement, "What I Believe": "What I believe...I believe in rainbows and puppy dogs and fairy tales. And I believe in the family. Mom and Dad and Grandma...and uncle Todd who waves his ---. And I believe in 8 of the 10 commandments. I believe that sex is one of the most beautiful, wholesome, and natural things...that money can buy. And I believe women should be placed on pedestals...high enough so that you can see up her dress...."

Martin's tone throughout the routine is extremely somber, which adds much to the overall effect of hilarity. That was off of the first half of side one, which was recorded in Vegas, and a totally obscene "The Real Me" leads off the second half, which was recorded on Martin's home turf at the Comedy Store in Hollywood.

No doubt about it, Steve's act is more risque in front of small crowds, and the intimacy lends itself to the occasion well. Take the "Love God" bit, which is just a short shuffle from his famous "Wild and craaaazzyyy guyyyyy" routine.

"The Steve Martin Brothers" may not be an apt Christmas present for your young children (unless, of course, they're CRAZY about banjo music), but for the older fan at your house (like yourself), it's a worthwhile buy. As Steve would say, "Hey, this guy's goooooood!"

blazing saddles

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) BLAZING SADDLES Mel Brooks' third screen comedy-a hilarious, outrageous sendup of the American film western in which a black sheriff sets out to mop up a shoot-em-up town. With Cleavon Little, Harvey Korman, Slim Pickens, Madeline Kahn (doing Marlene Dietrich to a fare-thee-well), Alex Karras and Gene Wilder as "The Waco Kid". Brooks himself plays a woman-hungry governor and an indian chief. A romp with a light-hearted brigade that ends up in an unlikely battle royal involving, among others, Dom DeLuise and a mountain of beefcake.

FRI., OCT. 30

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain) HALLOWEEN Terror! Terror! Terror! With Donald Pleasence and Jamie Lee Curtis. Whatever happened to bobbing for apples and trick or treat? Oh, this film contains elements of shock and suspense. Parental discretion is advised. Cost/earnings-wise, it is the most successful film ever made; stylistically, it's the one that all the others have since tried to emulate.

SAT., OCT. 31

8-9PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain) DISNEY'S "THE LAST FLIGHT OF NOAH'S ARK" (1). Ricky Schroder and Elliott Gould star in this delightful film that sees an intrepid and unlikely band of castaways turn an old B-29 bomber into a modern Ark to escape from an unmapped tropical isle.

Genevieve Bujold, Tammy Lauren and Vincent Gardenia co-star. Conclusion next week at same time.

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) KILLING AT HELL'S GATE Filmed along the Rogue River in Oregon, this gripping tale is about a party of river rafters whose pleasure trip turns into a whitewater nightmare. Stars Robert Ulrich, Deborah Raffin, Lee Purcell and Paul Burke. Rapids, whirlpools, chutes, cataracts-and terror.

SUN., NOV. 1

Clint Eastwood

8-10:30PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain) EVERY WHICH WAY BUT LOOSE Clint Eastwood is an easy-going truck driver who always keeps his eyes open and his fists clenched as he defends his reputation as the best barroom brawler in southern California. With Sondra Locke, Geoffrey Lewis, Beverly D'Angelo, Ruth Gordon and 165-pound Southeast Asian orangutan "Popi", herein known as "Clyde".

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain)

DEATH OF A CENTERFOLD: THE DOROTHY STRATTEN STORY A hard-hitting drama based on the true-life experiences of a Cinderella-like Canadian teenager who goes to Hollywood to find fame, fortune... and tragedy. THE GOODBYE GIRL Hello, hello! Neil Simon's multi-Academy Award-nominated hit comedy about an ambitious young actor who solves his housing problem by sharing an apartment with a beautiful gal who is stubbornly certain that their inevitable romance would be disastrous. Stars Richard Dreyfuss and Marsha Mason'll give you softening of the hearties!

MON., NOV. 2

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain) BORN TO BE SOLD Lynda Carter portrays a social worker who attempts to expose a baby-selling operation even though it involves great personal danger. Co-starring Harold Gould, Philip Sterling, Dean Stockwell, Lloyd Haynes, Ed Nelson, Donna Wilkes and Sharon Farrell.

TUES., NOV. 3

8-10PM NBC (7 Central/Mountain) FATHER MURPHY Special premiere of a new series with Merlin

Olsen, Moses Gunn and Katherine Cannon joining forces at a Dakota Territory gold claim to fight the controls of a brutal tycoon-and running into more than they bargained for. Michael Landon is creator, writer, director and executive producer of the drama.

9-11PM CBS (8 Central/Mountain) THE PRINCESS AND THE CABBIE The story of an insecure young lady who suffers from dyslexia and a feisty, self-taught cab driver who becomes her teacher-and the deep relationship that develops between the two. FRI., NOV. 6

9-11PM NBC (8 Central/Mountain) THE LEGACY OF MAGGIE WALSH

SAT., NOV. 7

8-9PM CBS (7 Central/Mountain) DISNEY'S "THE LAST FLIGHT OF NOAH'S ARK." (2). Conclusion.

SUN., NOV. 8

5-6PM CBS (4 Central/Mountain) A TALE OF FOUR WISHES Singer-actor Rick (second son of O & H) Nelson is a friendly stranger who helps a bewildered 13-year-old girl learn the secrets of making wishes come true. JOHN TRAVOLTA GREASE

GREASE John Travolta and Olivia Newton-John at Frankie Avalon High. The '50's were never like this but who cares. Watch Stockard Channing steal the show, though a little long of tooth to be playing a teenager, she gets a lot of mileage out of this one.

could be "The French Lieutenant's Woman" updated to the 1940's.

Change the direction of the bigotry/prejudice just a bit and you have "To Kill a Mockingbird." Throw in one or two more scenes of suspense and you have another of those "terror in the ignorant deep South" movies.

"Raggedy Man" is all of these in its parts, yet somehow, placed together, this very different mixture works and works well. It's a curious cross-genre hybrid of a film that is not completely successful, but oftentimes just getting a hybrid to grow is enough; getting it to blossom is another challenge.

Sissy Spacek stars in the central role of a recently divorced woman with two small children who tries to eke out a living as a telephone operator in a small Texas town during World War II. Eric Roberts plays a sailor on his way to join the fight, when, on Spacek's phone, he has what is, in effect, a "Dear John" phone call.

As rejected lovers, the sailor and the divorced woman share a brief wartime romance, but one that, although brief, is full of authentic emotion as opposed to quick passion. Always lurking in the shadows is the mysterious Raggedy Man; saying anything further about this character would give away too much of the film.

The villains of the piece are two-fold. Indirectly are the townsfolk who gossip about "that divorced woman and a sailor." Their fake morals, insults and stares condemn a woman simply trying to make it on her own (and thus the relationship to "French Lieutenant's Woman").

The more down-to-earth bad-guys are two of the seediest bits of in-breeding weirdos to roam the screen since the backwoods of "Deliverance."

Our Senior Citizens — They Deserve Better

IAN A. GRASSAM, D.C.

Who's the forgotten citizen in today's society? Too often it's the senior citizen or other persons living on fixed incomes. In a world of double-digit inflation, shrinking services and soaring interest rates, our seniors and those on general assistance programs have been left unprotected in too many instances.

Sure, everybody complains about taxes and inflation, but how many of us have tried to cope living on a fixed income? For many of those 65 and over it's a time of retirement they've looked forward to and dreamed about for years.

Now that retirement is here, the financial security of life in 1981 has put a damper on those dreams. Runaway inflation has a way of dehumanizing those unable to keep pace. What a poor way to treat the very people we should be thanking for their lifetime of contributions towards our government, our schools and our churches.

The senior citizens I've come in contact with aren't looking for charity or some kind of handout. They just want a chance to live a life of dignity and I certainly think they've earned that sense of dignity.

For the month of October the Grassam Chiropractic Life Center will show its appreciation of today's senior citizens. We want those on Medicaid, Medicare and other general assistance programs to know that we understand the difficulty of their plight.

During October all Medicaid and Medicare expenses normally paid for by the patient receiving chiropractic care will be absorbed by the center. There will be no charges for any deductibles, including office call and annual deductibles, nor any charges for examination or required x-rays normally picked up by the patient.

In short, no out-of-pocket costs will be incurred by Medicaid or Medicare patients.

The thought of a senior citizen, or anyone for that matter, continuing to suffer from such ailments as back and leg pain, headaches, allergies, deafness, stiff neck and numerous other conditions simply because they're financially trapped is appalling. Chiropractic care is the way to a healthier life — and that's priceless.

During October our staff will show those on fixed incomes how chiropractic can change their lives. Medicare, Medicaid, A.D.C. and general assistance patients should simply call the center at 422-7800 for an appointment.

We don't consider this health care as charity. It's our way of helping those most affected by the economic realities of today.

It's also our way of saying "thank you" to those senior citizens who have given so much to improve our standard of living. Those of us at the Grassam Chiropractic Life Center have not forgotten about you, the senior citizen.

We look forward to seeing and treating you in October.

House Bill would discourage youth from smoking 'pot'

There have been efforts to discourage young people from smoking, and particularly from smoking marijuana.

A bill recently approved by the State House of Representatives would use the law to attempt to discourage both habits.

It would make it illegal for minors to buy either cigarettes and other tobacco products or smoking accessories such as cigarette holders, cigarette papers, smoking pipes or water pipes which can be used with marijuana.

The bill would require storeowners to post notices saying that persons under 18 years of age are prohibited from buying such items. They would be required to ask for identification of any customer suspected to be under 18.

The bill would make it unlawful for minors to smoke in public or on any private property open to the public.

Violations could be punishable by a civil fine of as much as $500.

The bill is in the Senate.

There has been increasing concern by lawmakers across the country in recent years over the availability of smoking accessories for use with marijuana and other drugs. They tend to glamorize the use of drugs, and are often aimed at young people.

There are actually on the market such items as frisbees with built-in pot smoker's pipes, "Space Ship Enterprise" roach clips, and comic strip character stash holders, all obviously geared to young people.

The legal sale of these types of accessories is hard to explain, especially to youth. While marijuana, cocaine and other controlled substances are illegal to use, implements designed for their use are legal to sell.

In Michigan, as elsewhere, the problem of drug use among young people is widespread, particularly the use of marijuana. A recent survey in a high school in one Michigan city showed that two-thirds of the students had tried marijuana. Twenty-five percent admitted to smoking it at least weekly and 43 percent said they started in junior high school.

The problem is not limited to urban areas. A survey conducted in two largely-rural areas in Michigan showed that nearly half of the junior and senior high school students had used marijuana.

A number of other states have tried to ban the sale of smoking accessories that can be used with drugs. The courts have ruled those laws unconstitutional, generally based on the fact that they were vague, failed to give notice of what is prohibited, and failed to provide sufficient guidelines to prevent arbitrary and selective enforcement.

The bill passed by the House avoids these constitutional difficulties. First of all, it applies only to minors, and falls within the State's constitutional powers to guard the health, safety and welfare of children in a more protective manner than it does those of adults.

Secondly, the bill prohibits the sale of all smoking accessories to minors. Thus, there is no need to distinguish between smoking accessories intended for use for legal purposes and those intended to be used for illegal purposes.

In dispute with Lucas

Judge Moes rules that county not liable for attorney fees

Wayne County is not liable for any of the attorney fees in suits against the Board of Commissioners resulting from dispute with Sheriff William Lucas, the deputies' union and communities involved over dismissed road patrol services, according to an order issued by visiting Circuit Court Judge Harvey W. Moes late last week.

In an order relating to eight separate but related cases that his judgment consolidated, Moes ruled that the County is not bound with court costs or attorney fees.

Earlier, attorney Dennis Nystrom predicted that his fee might exceed $250,000 for defending the Sheriff, and county officials have been worried since February over possible court costs accumulating from suits and appeals since then when the road patrol was officially abolished.

Said Board Chairman Samuel A. Turner, "The Judge's decision is very clear, so we hope that further litigation in this situation will soon end. We recognize everyone's right to appeal, but we hope the situation will stop because of the county budget position," he continued: ended.

Hopefully, this decision will stop the practice of other elected county officials being so hasty to sue the Board over their budget prerogatives which they are singularly authorized to undertake. The Board last year took the policy position that it could not continue funding the road patrol, and the court has sustained that position. I hope that ends it," Turner added.

"Regardless of who wins disputes of this nature, it is the taxpayer who must eventually bear the cost. I sincerely hope that this action will generate some restrictions on other public officials rushing to sue the Board with representation of legal council hired from outside."

The County is now about to adopt its 1981-82 budget, approximating $285 to $287 million, which does not include appropriations for these type attorney fees.

In other action, the planned layoff of some 700 Wayne County employees was averted Thursday when County Commissioners approved a compromise agreement with Michigan AFSCME Council 25 and its affiliated locals that calls for deferment of a $4.5 million COLA payment due this November.

Other county employees including exempt and elected officials will also find themselves short of Christmas money as the result of Thursday's budget session.

"If these other employees and elected officials want to sue, let them sue," Chairman of the Board Samuel A. Turner told the Ways and Means Committee.

"We don't have the money at this time, and we're not going to negotiate over something we don't have. If the unions have agreed to go along until February 5th, 1982, I see no reason why the elected officials and exempt workers can't make the same sacrifice."

Union rank and file ratified the contract September 9th following a month of feverish negotiating between county and union representatives attempting to work out a compromise before the expiration of a temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Court Judge Thomas Roumell.

Council 25 obtained the court order to stop layoffs scheduled to take effect last July, pending outcome of contract talks.

The County's General Government Committee, chaired by Commissioner Paul G. Citkowski, gave its stamp of approval last week and sent it on to the budget session for final action.

Union negotiators originally sought a $1.50 per hour roll-in of COLA, but eventually agreed to the 50 cents when county representatives refused to budge. The roll-in, to be taken from COLA which reached $2.33 this past quarter, is to be included in the first paycheck after February 1, 1982.

Although saving the County $4.5 million in payments this November, it will cost the County an additional $744,700 for the union contract and $547,000 for the exempt and elected officials.

Ready to stir up a batch of pancakes is pancake chairman John B. Lewkowicz (second from left) who'll have a lot of help on hand when the Romulus Kiwanis Pancake and Craft Committee holds their annual festival which is scheduled for Sat., Nov. 7 at the Progressive Club Hall, 11580 Ozga Road at Five Points. Also pictured above are (from left) Harold Hoffer, secretary; Lynn Coleman, craft committee, and past president Simon Binder. The proceeds from the annual festival will help finance programs for indigent children's dental care, Forney Clement Foundation at Children's Hospital. The pancake breakfast tickets, at $2.50 for adults, and $1.50 for children, may be obtained from Romulus Kiwanians. There are booths still available for the crafts displays.

Saturday: 1944 A stroll down memory lane

Saturday — 1944

Saturday morning, the sun is bright, quite warm for November. The leaves are all down and Fred Miller is burning a pile of them in front of our apartment at his place on Church Street.

I walk down Third Street past the old Belleville High School building where Luella Leonard supervises the elementary school. I'll cross the street here, but watch out for the mud.

A stop at the post office on the corner to pick up the mail. Frank Prais says it'll be a while yet before a post office box will be available. Hope someday we can have mail delivery.

Next door Harold and Orlo Roberts are putting a new sofa into the window. Now that's something we need.

Doctor Tator must be in, the lights are on above his dental chair. Living above the office in his new building is smart business.

I've got to stop at Kirk Pitcher's shop for a trim. Someone is telling that plane production at Willow Run is up by one more plane per month.

Walking toward downtown I see Dr. Robb leaving his office. It's great that he can get unlimited gasoline. With our "A" stamps allowing us four gallons a week we don't travel much.

I've got to stop in a Bert Spriggs drug store for a soda. Just a conversation with Bert gets the day started right.

I see Andy Krebs at his desk. He just renewed my car insurance, but at $25 a year I wonder if I can afford to drive.

At Peoples State Bank Henry Deering takes care of my deposit. Frank Clark is in his office at the back.

Harry Agge is just going into the Township Building. I wonder if he was very busy over Halloween.

Harry Wilson must be in his shop. The forge seems to be running and I hear the clang of the anvil.

Robson's Garage is busy with repairs but I wonder when Paul and Aubrey will have new cars again. Not while the war's on for sure.

The Zannis Bar and Bowling Alley are quiet. Now on past a house, the burned out Chevy garage, some little shops, Madelyn's Beauty Shop, Garlick's Barber Shop and the restaurant on the corner of High and Main.

Beyond the Masonic Temple is the Detroit Edison office where Lester Hanna takes my bill and marks it paid.

Bunyea's Shell station is open and George is sweeping out. Just beyond is Bunyea's store which leans a little toward the lake.

Across Main Street is Russell Price's new Huron Electric building. Maybe someday he'll have a refrigerator I can buy. Rumor has it that after the war Russell will build some more store buildings between his place and Harold Cullin's Standard station. Harold is pumping gas this morning and waves.

The bakery on the corner next to Hamilton's certainly smells good this morning.

I'll get a pound of no. 6 nails from Hamilton's. Silas and Dick are waiting on customers. Silas says we are about due for a snow.

Next door at the C.F. Smith store Grace Burnell weighs out a pound of spinach for me and I get a dozen eggs. Val Dorsten is waiting on customers too.

Barney and Joe Kott have some sharp fall shoes in the window. Alton is washing the windows.

Howard Kirk helps me select some cold pills at his drug store. That's a big modern store for Belleville.

I'll pass the men's clothing store and stop at the Ben Franklin Five and Dime. Earl Bosteder jokes about me buying a split level. I assure him it's on the level.

Passing John Rice's Dry Goods the next stop is Kroger's where I get three pounds of Walt Noll's good lean hamburger. At three pounds for a dollar meat is high and it uses up the red ration stamps, too.

On past Thorne's Jewelers and the City Market with the roof over the sidewalk to Shunk's Cleaners to pick up my dry cleaning.

Across Fourth Street at Beard's Book Store I stop to see if any new books are in.

John Tackman at Belleville Hardware is talking with a customer in the doorway. It's warm enough to have the door open.

I'll step into the Laurie Shop and ask the Kureths if my wife has been in this morning. She was, earlier.

Maggie Hope is washing windows at her house and Blanche Walters is raking leaves. Carl Phillips at the Sinclair Station is greasing a car. With an oil change and grease job needed every thousand miles it does keep the station busy.

Well, back across Main Street, down Third and home again. The old town just doesn't change much.

for the City of Romulus:*

Regarding Capital Expenditure:

"The largest capital investment is proposed by Comcast at $4,905,000. This is over 2 million more than the other competition."

Regarding General System Design:

"It is very important for an applicant to be able to justify the basis for their proposed design. Most commonly used basis for design are research studies conducted in the community... Only Comcast of the three applicants, has conducted such a study."

Regarding Return on Investment:

"Both Barden (51.6%) and Omnicom/Bell (37.4%) appear to have return on investment that is excessively high. Only Comcast's (18.9%) rate of return is reasonable and acceptable."

Regarding Signal Reception:

"Two of the applicants propose only two satellites while the third applicant, Comcast, does propose to build 3 earth stations capable of receiving signals from all available satellites."

Regarding Construction:

"Barden Communications would exclude approximately 13 square miles of the southern portion of the City of Romulus..." "...Omnicom/Bell omits the central southern portion of Romulus and a portion of the northwest area of the community..." "Comcast indicates by its cable communication service map that service will be provided to all portions of the community."

Glenn claims grid title-has shot at post-season playoffs

By ERIC GEARNIS
Special Writer

It was a celebration that not even the snow, mud, and cold could mar last Friday night at Garden City East.

The John Glenn Rockets of Coach Chuck Gordon took home their first Northwest Suburban League championship in five years.

And Glenn did it in impressive style, completely dominating the upset minded Garden City East Panthers 24-3.

The team, their coaching staff, and their fans (who outnumbered the host Garden City fans) frolicked together on the muddy snow covered turf of Panther stadium in a well deserved victory party.

There were tears of joy for the winners and their parents, who saw a team that nobody gave much chance to do anything complete their league schedule at 5-1 and a share of the crown with North Farmington.

With the celebration behind them, Coach Gordon and the Rockets must now get back to the business of preparing for their last two non league matchups against Livonia Stevenson this week and the finale against arch-rival Wayne Memorial.

At stake for the Rockets is a possible 8-1 season and a "miracle bid" for the Michigan State High School Association post-season play offs.

This year's John Glenn team won the East contest in their typical fashion with an explosive big play offense led by quarterback Rick Wilson and a tenacious defense which once again bent a little but refused to break.

Wilson, who must now be considered as one of the top high school quarterbacks in the state, was the key in this victory.

After spotting East a 31-yard field goal at 5:35 of the first quarter, the Rockets began to move.

First it was Todd Jennings who evened the scoring with a 20 yard field goal of his own at 9:35 of the second quarter. And then following a Mike Dest interception, one of two for him on the evening, Wilson fooled the East defense with a beautiful fake, rolled out and hit Amado Varona with a 58-yard strike to the end zone to put the Rockets up with 7:70 remaining in the half. Jennings' extra point gave Glenn a 10-3 lead.

Wilson continued his assault in the second half, hitting Dest with a 13 yard TD pass at the 5:09 mark of the third quarter. The Jennings' kick gave Glenn at 17-3 bulge.

Wilson led the team on a long scoring drive in the fourth quarter, highlighted by aials to Dest and Varona to the Panther two yard line, where Jennings went over on a sweep with 7:00 remaining.

Jennings then added his 12th point of the evening to give Glenn their final advantage 24-3.

The defense accounted for six Garden City East turnovers on five pass interceptions, two each by Dest and Mike Guillian, and one by Chris Merandi.

For Gulliani it was his sixth and seventh thefts of the year, an all time school record.

Wilson's two TD passes gave him nine for the year tying the record of Ron Suida set in 1976, with still two games remaining.

On the night, Wilson passed for 200 yards while Jennings and Don Forchione led the rushing attack with 89 and 84 yards respectively.

Gordon was understandably elated with his team's performance.

"I think the team proved to itself that we have to play at our best to win. We aren't the kind of team who can have an off night and still come out on top. North Farmington proved that to us," said Gordon.

Gordon also warned against any overconfidence against the two remaining opponents.

"Stevenson is an outstanding team and they are coming off five straight wins. We can't afford to look past them to Wayne," said Gordon.

While the varsity was busy setting individual records, the jayvee team under head coach Bill Camp set a team record last Thursday afternoon scoring the most points ever, and the biggest victory margin ever over Garden City East 50-0.

The Rockets will entertain Stevenson this Friday night at 8 p.m.

Valuable advice

Inkster football Coach Arnice James talks over strategy with one of his gridders during the Vikings' annual clash with neighborhood rival Robichaud. The discussion proved fruitful as Inkster went on to beat the Bulldogs, 6-0, and gain a share of the Suburban Athletic Conference grid crown.

Romulus whirls in 7th defeat

Romulus Coach Don Foley must have thought his shellshocked gridders were still playing Jackson Lumen Christi Friday night when he and his Eagles hosted Oak Park for their traditional Homecoming.

Jackson, which buried Romulus 62-0 a week ago, left the winless Eagles in a daze that they apparently couldn't snap out of as Oak Park erupted for a 27 point first quarter and went on to destroy the hosts before a Homecoming crowd 40-19.

"I don't know what it was, but I hope its out of our systems," said Foley whose team has probably one more reasonable shot at snapping out of an 0-7 doldrum. They will play Dearborn Heights Annapolis (1-7) Friday night before a Parents' Appreciation crowd, then will travel to Ypsilanti the following Friday.

Ypsilanti, incidentally, knocked off the No. 1 ranked Class A team in the state, Ann Arbor Pioneer, last Friday.

"If we don't do it by now," Foley said alluding to the game against Annapolis, "the odds are overwhelmingly against us at Ypsilanti." And that's stating it mildly.

Whatever it was that affected the Eagles last Friday it obviously was detrimental to their cause. They gave up four TDs on miscues and never realistically got back into the game after the first 12 minutes. Romulus fumbled on the first play of the match-up deep in its territory, and that turnover resulted in the Parkers' first TD. Then, a blocked punt gave the visitors their next score, while a punt return netted the visitors yet another six-pointer.

"Would you believe we had the ball for two offensive plays and they scored four touchdowns?" Foley rhetorically asked.

Offensively, the brunt of the Romulus attack again laid upon senior back Johnny Holifield's shoulders. He picked up 107 yards on 13 tries en route to three touchdowns. He raced across the Parker goal line from 6, 29 and 43.

Matt Sullivan's point-after accounted for the only other Eagle score.

The Parkers held a 27-6 halftime margin, then came back to collect TDs in the third (34-6) and one more in the fourth. Holifield scored two TDs in the final quarter, and has now amassed 609 yards for his rushing efforts.

Romulus also received a stalwart effort from linebacker Dale Eddings who counted nine solos, three assists, while he blocked two point-after. Offensively, he nabbed five receptions for a total of 44 yards.

Winless Wayne Winces

These two Wayne gridders show the hustling spirit of the Zebra team even though they have gone seven games without avictory. Coach Floyd Carter's minions, whose team last year was one of the best in the state, looks for its first win this season when it tangles with Taylor Truman Friday night.

Wayne runners rule Great Lakes 8

Although Coach Brian Watson and his Wayne runners spotted Taylor Center the first two individual places, the local harriers swept to an overwhelming victory at the annual Great Lakes 8 Conference Championships.

Taylor's 1-2 punch of Earl Jones and Mike Parcha was not enough to stop the undefeated Wayne contingent which countered with the steady and consistent performances of Chris Strome, Kevin Allen, Gary Vallance and Keith Keisznowski, all of whom, earned all-conference recognition.

Jones toured the 3-mile course in an impressive 15:37 and led teammate Parcha across the finish line. Parcha was clocked in 15:30. Then Strome showed up (16:04), followed by mate Allen (16:13).

And when Vallance nailed down the seventh place spot, while Mike Tolson and Keisznowski were close 10th and 11th finishers, Wayne had sewed up the enviable victory and the 1981 conference championship.

Watson, voted the conference's "Coach of the Year" for the second consecutive year, felt his runners "didn't look that good."

The Wayne coach offered as a reason: "I think the boys may have eaten too much at their pre-meet dinner. However, we still had a pretty good pack and battled Fordson right down to the finish to win it. Fordson's the most improved team I've seen this year."

Wayne amassed a total of 35 points to finish atop of the seven-team league field, while Fordson garnered 48 points, Westland John Glenn harriers waited until the league championships to put all of the pieces together.

Losers to Redford Union during the dual meet season, Coach Jerry Szukiat's runners came back to avenge that solo loss and win the league meet which enabled them to share in the 1981 Northwest Suburban Conference championship.

"We ran extremely well in a fashion I knew these kids were able to," noted Szukiat's who rounded out his 18th season as head coach at Glenn. "R.U. beat us in a dual meet, however, we proved to be the best team at the league championships."

The title is the seventh over a span of 10 years for the Westlanders.

Redford Union's John Thrash, however, managed to win the gold in the individual race to the wire. The 17-year-old senior was first to the wire, beating Livonia Franklin's Mike White, who came back later in the week to capture the Class A regional crown at Cass Benton Park. Thrash's winning performance was clocked at 16:14.

Glenn had the third place runner in the league with Pete Stephens who crossed the finish line in 16:40, bringing in after him North Farmington's Chris Walker, Glenn's Tom Gibson, Robin Peters of Thurston and Chris Zimmer from Franklin.

The top seven runners were automatically named to the all-conference team. The Westlanders also received point-scoring performances from Randy Frank, ninth (17:18); Ray Macika, 11th (17:22); Paul Davis, 21st (18:07) and Dan Roush, 26th (18:35).

Glenn piled up 49 points, 10 less than unbeaten dual meet champ, R.U., which had 59 at the league meet. Livonia Franklin was third (72), North Farmington, fourth (80), followed by Thurston (112) and Garden City East (153).

Last chance?

Winless Wayne, Truman (0-7) tangle

By ERIC GEARNIS
(Special Writer)

Something has to give this Friday night. That's when Taylor Truman (0-7) invades Wayne (0-7) in the final Great Lakes 8 Conference matchup for both teams.

There is only one thing at stake: pride. The winner of the game will finish in sixth place in the league, while the loser will earn the cellar position.

Both teams have suffered through the same kind of football season — fumbles missed opportunities, penalties, and injuries. And for one of them some of the hurt will be soothed with a victory.

Wayne lost its seventh straight contest, the Zebras' worst start in almost 15 years, to highly favored Edsel Ford 28-6.

It appeared maybe even the forces of nature were against the Zebras.

As the game started, Wayne received the kickoff in a heavy snowfall, and after failing to move punted to the Thunderbirds.

Then, as if preordained, the sky cleared, the sun came out, and Edsel Ford quarterback Rick Wyka unleashed his powerful throwing arm.

The T-Birds drove 54 yards in six plays with Wyka hitting Rob Rodriguez for 18 yards for the TD with 7:51 remaining in the first quarter.

The Zebras' year-long nemesis, the fumble, struck on the next series, and Wyka moved the team 66 yards in four plays with Wyka passing to Joe Gregory for 39 yards to put the T-Birds up 14-0 with 3:58 still to play in the first quarter.

The Zebras got untracked long enough to pull to within eight at 14-6 in the second quarter, driving 51 yards in eight plays, with Shawn Boyer going the final nine with 5:19 left in the half.

Edsel Ford came right back on an 11-play, 79-yard drive with Wyka going over from the one to give the T-Birds a 21-6 half time edge.

Both teams played outstanding defense in the second half, with the only score coming on an eight yard scoring pass from Wyka to Joe Musual at the 6:03 mark of the third quarter to give Edsel Ford their final margin of victory 28-6.

Coach Floyd Carter said that "his team will look to the future now."

Those seven games are gone. There is nothing we can do about it now. We have to go after these last two like it was the championship. These kids have been down all year, but we haven't had any quitters, I'm still proud of how they hang in there," Carter said.

Edsel Ford came right back on an 11-play, 79-yard drive with Wyka going over from the one to give the T-Birds a 21-6 half time edge.

Both teams played outstanding defense in the second half, with the only score coming on an eight yard scoring pass from Wyka to Joe Musual at the 6:03 mark of the third quarter to give Edsel Ford their final margin of victory 28-6.

It was a bad week all-around for football at Wayne. The high-flying jayvee squad was derailed 61-14 by Edsel Ford in a well-played, but rain soaked battle.

The Zebras will entertain the winless Truman team in a 7:30 matchup Friday evening.

The Inkster Parks and Recreation Department is still accepting entries for the fall women's singles racquetball league.

The cost is contingent upon entries. Everyone who is interested must attend the respective meeting to discuss league rules and other items of interest to make this year's league one of the best.

2 hockey teams remain unbeaten

Tastee Freez and Jake's Lounge continue to sport unblemished records as the Wayne Westland Over 30 Hockey Conference entered its fourth week of action.

Tastee Freez's offense is averaging a hefty 7.7 goals per game with outstanding goaltending by Tim Vanderburgh to back up the defending Berrington Division champs.

In the meantime, Jake's Lounge is also 3-0 on the season and the Bonkowski Division leaders have scored 5 goals per outing and have the excellent services of netminder John Ruggiero III its mainstay on defense.

Jake's Lounge scored one goal in the first period, two in the second and third periods to skate past Futurama, 5-1. Eugene Hudson accounted for two goals and two assists, Al Farina and Jim Lear scored single tallies and picked up two assists.

Keith Middaugh netted the puck once for the victors, and Dave Beebe picked up one assist for Jake's. Futurama's Lone Goal was scored in the second period by Ken Knick with Marv Borycki and Dave Milam assisting.

Something unusual in this contest: there were no penalties called through the three periods of play.

Tastee Freez appeared to have its work cut out for them as Ken Howe

Freezers skate countered and won a 8-1 decision. Once again, Bob Eggers had a fine game for Tastee Freez scoring two goals and assisting three. Dan Thomas also netted the puck twice; Dave Frankling tallied for one goal and two assists, Bob Wood netted the puck once and picked up one assist; Ken Beal and Paul Mayworm accounted for one goal apiece.

Picking up one assist each were Dennis Broge, John Kunz and Guy Moise.

Brock Builders scored three times in the first and second periods and once in the third in an all-out effort skating past Family Heating 7-2. Brock's Don Middaugh finished the game with two goals and two assists. Dennis LaPenese also scored twice with one assist while Ken Murray, John Colligan and Layne Cardwal tallied for one goal and one assist apiece.

Picking up assists were Larry Kaifesh with two; Mike Poupore and Art Cazon had one each.

Family Heating's received scoring efforts from Joel Layne and Ray Erickson. Layne also picked up the assist on Erickson's goal while Norm Beasley got the assist on Layne's tally.

Melvindale mauls Spartans

MELVINDALE—When the Tri-River League season opened up six weeks ago, it was generally accepted that the Melvindale Cardinals would be one of the main candidates for the championship.

Thanks to a fired-up team from Taylor Kennedy and an opportunistic group from Garden City West, the Cards won't be accepting any additions to their trophy case this fall, but did wind up their league schedule on a positive note Friday, soundly trouncing the Cherry Hill Spartans, 25-0.

The Cards didn't waste any time getting on the scoreboard, as they put up six points on their first possession of the game. Melvindale used nine plays to march 65 yards, with Shawn Loughrige taking the ball in from two yards out. The first of a series of bad snaps cost the Cardinals the extra point.

LOUGHRIGE picked up another marker on the first series of the second quarter by charging into the end zone from the eight-yard line after he and Harvey Gibson had moved the ball over 30 yards in only five rushes. This time the kick went in the right direction, and the half ended with Melvindale up by 13 points and the paralyzed Cherry Hill offense still looking for a first down.

It was Gibson's turn to score when the third quarter started, and once again, he and his teammates got right down to business. Melvindale took the kickoff and used nine plays to go 50 yards for another touchdown taking the ball the final, three yards for the TD.

The Cards kicked the ball back to the Spartans, but Cherry Hill hardly had time to wipe the snow off of the ball before Greg Kinnes intercepted to give the Cardinals the ball back at the Spartan 27 yard line. It took Melvindale only four plays to finish their scoring for the evening, with Gibson once again going in from 12 yards. For the second straight time, the to caused the pass to go astray.

THE CARDINALS, defensive squad played another superb game, allowing Cherry Hill only one first down and 48 yards all night. In six league contests, Melvindale's defense racked up three shutouts and allowed only 29 points.

The rushing of Loughrige and Gibson accounted for 144 of Melvindale's 217 offensive yards. Loughrige carried the ball 13 times for 75 yards, while Gibson went 69 yards in 14 attempts.

10 teams gather for WW swim title

Ten teams have been invited this weekend to compete in the 1981 Western Wayne Swimming & Diving competitions which will be staged Friday and Saturday at Wayne Memorial High School.

The field will include Garden City East, Garden City West, Belleville, Westland John Glenn, Wyandotte, Cherry Hill, Livonia Franklin, Riverview and Allen Park.

Diving preliminaries have been scheduled for 12:30 p.m. on Friday, while the prelims for the swim events are set for 4 p.m. The championships in the 11-event invitational will be held beginning at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

"There will be some exceptional swimmers in this group," said Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin whose team will carry an unblemished 6-0 dual meet record into combat. "I feel that fans will get an opportunity to view excellent competition."

Wayne stretched its dual meet swim winning streak to six last week as Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras overcame title obstacle Monroe, 91-81.

Although Monroe received six out of the possible 11 first places, Wayne had the depth in second and third place finishes to balance out the difference.

"I felt our girls did an excellent job," McPartlin said after what was his team's third Great Lakes 8 Conference victory. "Though we didn't get as many firsts, I felt the good team effort was the difference."

Wayne's Mary Batterson turned in her best time for the 500-yard freestyle and won in 5:47.4. Teammate Kim Tilley was clocked the winning time of 1:10.5 for the 100-yard butterfly, while Mary Joe Mason gave the Zebras a win in the 100-yard breaststroke (1:14.0).

Wayne also won the 400-yard freestyle relay thanks to the efforts of Jackie Marnon, Mari Jayne Little, Sandy Burns and Mary Batterson who were clocked in 4:10.1. The Zebras also stashed away the 200-medley relay with Kathy Batterson, Mason, Tilley and Karen VanAueren who turned in a 2:03.8.

In the meantime, Westland John Glenn came up with some of its best times of the year, but they were not good enough to stop defending champ, North Farmington, which remains undefeated in the Northwest Suburban Conference.

North earned a 91-71 victory over the Westlanders who managed to claim two first places, including a sweep in the diving competition. The Rockets received a first place from Kris Johnston who covered the 500-yard freestyle in 5:57. Shon Pilarski led the Glenn sweep in diving with 179.9 points. Rocket divers Patty Klimek and Chris Kociela finished second and third with 162.40 and 137.80 points, respectively.

"I felt we had improved tremendously against them," said Glenn Coach Debbie Sanders, who pointed out that North had whipped her team by more than 70 points a year ago. "We're closing the gap. And that's what we need at this point."

Glenn also received "best, but second place" efforts from Sandy Martinez who was runner-up in the 100-yard butterfly (1:00); Robin Gow, second in the 200-yard freestyle (2:10), and second from Cindy Walkuski, in the 100 butterfly in 1:12.

Earlier in the week, the Westlanders overpowered Belleville, 114-56, as the Rockets captured 10 of the possible 11

2 Romulus girls capture Class C-D state net titles

Two Romulus girls, who have been playing tennis just a short time, had the most thrilling victory in their young lives recently when they helped their high school finish second in the state championships.

Karen Chatas and Kara Rogalle played brilliantly in upsetting the defending champion and top-seeded second doubles team of Laura Barlow and Cindy Budinger, 7-6 and 6-4, in the finals of the high school Class C-D state championships.

The tremendous effort allowed the girls' school—Greenhills School in Ann Arbor, a private school—to finish second overall to Grosse Pointe Woods University Liggett.

Liggett scored 25 points in repeating as state champions and Greenhills came in second with 16 points, thanks to the efforts of Karen and Kara. Two teams tied for third place with 10 points.

"Karen and Kara were just outstanding and played the best they have ever done in defeating two very fine tennis players," the Greenhills coach said.

"I think they accomplished a very unique feat in finishing so high although they have only been playing tennis about two years," the coach said.

Miss Rogalle attended St. Steven School in New Boston before entering Greenhills.

Audrey Solent lost the first singles crown to Stephanie Lightvoet of Kalamazoo Christian, 6-2, 6-1, after defeating her the previous two years.

Mira Jansen and the first doubles team of Kristi Prescott and Sofia Medzhadsky also made it to the finals and finished second. Jansen had a fairly easy time with Pam Lightvoet of Kalamazoo Christian, winning, 6-3, 6-3, but she was blitzed 6-0, 6-0 in the finals by Lisa Peck of Liggett.

Prescott and Medzhadsky did very well, winning three matches before losing to the Liggett duo of Peck and White, 6-1, 6-2. Solent was brilliant in winning three matches against Julie Haan of Grand Rapids South Christian, Heidi Narutsch of Battle Creek Pennfield and Betsy Mehaffie of Kalamazoo Christian.

In the third singles match, Mary Jo Farain of Dearborn Heights Riverside defeated Susan Lichter two out of three sets, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, in the semi-finals.

Belleville runs 4th in league

Unbeaten Edsel Ford tuned up for its victory at the Class A regional cross country championships by capturing what could be the last Suburban 8 Conference title.

Edsel, with its premier runner Dan Palardy registering a 16:15 for the gold medal, picked up 19 points at the league meet to easily put down challenges from cross-town rival, Dearborn (50), Trenton (100) and Belleville (117).

Belleville Coach Gary Reffitt said that he couldn't be disappointed by his team's performance because "we have a lot of young and potentially good runners on this squad."

Belleville received a 10th place finish from John Fisher, the only Tiger to survive regional competition. The 16-year-old junior will travel to Flint on Saturday to vie for the Class A state title.

The Tigers also finished 11th at the league meet with sophomores Dave Ciaverella, 23rd with Brian Tanner, while Larry O'Sullivan and Eric Larcinese was 28th and 45th, respectively.

Fisher was 19th at the regional and was awarded a state berth because the top three teams, excluding the members of those teams are eligible to compete in the finals.

Community Methodist Church setting for Sims-Hunter rite

Midland is the new home for the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Sims who were feted at a reception at the K. of C. Hall in Taylor following their Sept. 26 altar date.

Denise J. Hunter, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hunter of 13651 Kent Drive, Romulus, became Mrs. Sims in a four thirty ceremony conducted by The Rev. Margery Schleicher at the Community United Methodist Church in Romulus. The double ring rite joined her in marriage with the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy G. Sims of 10381 Ozga Road, Romulus.

Organist was Tony Giamanco who accompanied Linda Tanner as she sang

"We've Only Just Begun" and then joined in her singing "O Perfect Love."

Escorted to the sanctuary by her father, the bride was gown in white organza and polyester featuring a bodice of Chantilly lace and pearls with a sweetheart neckline and long, sheer sleeves. Five tiers of lace comprised her hooped skirt which was accented by a pleated organza hemline.

A headpiece of lace and pearls secured her four-tiered illusion veil which was banded in Chantilly lace while a fan design of white orchids and roses, blue roses and forget-me-nots and pink sweetheart roses completed her bridal ensemble.

Honor attendant was the bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Kenneth (Cheryl) Sims, who donned a blue polyester gown and white orchid and baby's breath headpiece. The silk white orchids and pink and blue roses she carried were arranged in a white basket.

Wearing similar dresses of blue with blue floral overdress were the quintet bridesmaids: Lisa Galofar, Evel Chateauver, Debra Rakoczy, the bridegroom's cousin; and Deana K. Gore and Kim Hagan, the bride cousins.

Flower girl, Jennifer Johnston, daughter of the Donald Johnstons, Ecorse, donned a light blue tiered fro as she approached the altar with ribbon bearer Phillip Galofaro, son of the Anthony Galofaros of Trenton.

Kenneth Sims was his brother's best man. Groomsmen included another brother, Robert Sims; Robert Blevins, Randy Hunter, the bride's brother; as Jeff Hagan and Brian Kilgore, both cousins of the bride.

For the occasion, Mrs. Hunter chose a rose polyester gown with a chiffon overlay and gold accessories. The bridegroom's mother appeared in an aqua gown with a chiffon cape and accessorized in grey. Both wore honor with wrist corsages of silk roses.

The parents of the young couple hosted the reception for 300 guests at also the rehearsal dinner held Sept. 19 Baldo's in Romulus.

Among those attending the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, the bride's grandparents and Mrs. N. Merryman, grandmother of the bridegroom. Also home from California in time for the nuptials were the bridegroom's brother, Marine Cpl. a Mrs. Steven Sims and son.

The young couple's new address Midland is Apt. Q-12, 2508 Abbot Road. A Romulus High School graduate, the bride attended Eastern Michigan University and is currently studying for nursing degree at Saginaw Valley State College.

Her husband, also a Romulus High School alumnus, earned his bachelor's degree in chemistry at Albion College 1978 and his juris doctor degree at the University of Detroit Law School in 1981. DEAR OCTOBER --

Now that you are on the wane, about to sing your swan song for 1981, I feel compelled to drop a little note, a rather sad farewell, I'm afraid, to the old pal who'd always been my favorite of favorites on the calendar. This, rather than my usual autumnal accolade.

Each year at this time I have verged on the ecstatic in my praise of you. I have raved about your breathtaking beauty and have waxed eloquent on the pleasure you bestow on the senses.

I have expounded on the magnificence of your foliage painted across the horizon; the delightful scent of your burning leaves wafting through colorful neighborhood yards; the crunchiness of your leaves -- drifting from maples, poplars, oaks -- and forming crackling carpets beneath our feet; the touch of your nippy fingers, warning us that cooler days were ahead; the radiance of your harvest moon lifting skyward and casting its beams over platoons of uncut corn fields.

You have been, in past memory, one glorious month -- providing us with that last, longed-for hangover from summer -- those few precious days in which to walk or drive through the tree-lined kaleidoscope you provide along our roadways; the surprisingly balmy afternoons when we have that one "last" opportunity to hit (and hunt for) a few more balls on the golf course; your idyllic frosty evenings when hayrides and weiner roasts are perfect answers to your veiled hints that November is afoot; the sunny days which gave us time for pumpkin-choosin' and apple pickin'; the alternately sultry and frosty Saturdays which you awarded for tailgating and the big football games.

Oh, October -- where WERE you this year? The understudy you sent did a miserable replacement job. We really didn't think much of her contrary ways, her dull personality, her determination to disrupt any outdoor plans, her lachrymose attitude and her utter disregard for our expectations.

All in all, she didn't measure up to your usual Number 10 status at all. October, old girl, this year you sent us a real bum! We bid your uncooperative sidekick fare-thee-well and, matching her attitude for the past 28 days, good riddance!

And next year, dear friend, we hope there'll be no substitutes; we want YOU back, completely recovered, as we've known you in the past.

Signed,
An October fan.

ALL ABOUT AVERAGE AMERICANA

• Of every 100 Americans who work, 27 usually work Saturdays and 13 usually work Sundays. Most would rather not.

• The average Peace Corps volunteer is an unmarried 27-year-old man with a bachelor's degree.

• The average American fire company responds to alarms within 4.1 minutes. Fully-paid fire departments arrive on the scene within three minutes while volunteer fire fighters, who first have to get to the station, respond within 5.1 minutes.

• Three dairy cows out of four born in the United States these days are the products of artificial insemination.

• According to the makers of the CalcuRater postage meter, about one letter in eight has too much postage on it.

• Nearly one American woman in two is either working or looking for work. In 1960, fewer than four in 10 were.

• Two University of Michigan economists have studied 98 companies that are owned partly or entirely by their employees. They averaged 350 workers each. The conclusion was that when workers own the plant, profits, productivity and morale are higher.

• Fourteen wives in 100 are older than their husbands.

• By the time she's 20, one American woman in five is married. Only six men in 100 marry by age 20.

HERE'S A NEW COOKIE CONCOCTION for those of you looking for ways to use up those garden carrots and for those who prefer NOT using sugar in their cookery. This was clipped out of a newspaper and tried last week when the family was able to give me their "reviews."

CARROT COOKIES

1 cup flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ lb. butter or oleo
1 egg
½ cup honey
¾ cup grated carrots, firmly packed
½ cup old-fashioned Mother's Oats
½ cup raisins
¾ cup chopped nuts

Mix butter and egg until creamy, add honey and blend. Add carrots and mix. Slowly stir in dry ingredients and then oats, only until mixed. Do not overmix. Add raisins and nuts and drop teaspoonful onto greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350 degrees for about 15 minutes or until golden. Makes 32 average-size cookies.

They're different and they're good!

AND, SPEAKING OF COINCIDENCES -- On our return from a tiny town where we'd had dinner last Thursday, we tuned into the Bob Hope Special taped at the new Gerald Ford Museum in Grand Rapids and featuring a galaxy of noteables and entertainment stars.

One of the bits we most enjoyed was Danny Thomas' finale -- his telling it the way it WAS, during his childhood with his father wielding a disciplinary hand where it was most needed. And -- it all took place in a tiny town in Michigan where the people were farmers and down-to-earth parents, the very spot we'd had dinner that night -- in Danny's birthplace -- Deerfield!

TRIVIA FOR THE COLLECTORS OF SUCH STUFF

The funny bone got its moniker from the fact that the name for the bone running from the shoulder to the elbow is the humerus bone.

The highest point in the United States is Mount McKinley in Alaska -- 20,320 feet high.

The phrase "crocodile tears" derives from ancient Greek legend -- the giant lizard was believed to attract its victims by loud moaning and then shed tears while it devoured them.

The first postage stamps were issued in 1847.

Although television was first conceived in 1884, it wasn't seen by most consumers until 1947.

The term "on the nose" originated in radio from a sign made by directors putting a finger alongside the nose to indicate that a program was running precisely on schedule.

THE BOTTOM LINE: When you hear a man say that poverty is a great thing for the character, chances are you're listening to a millionaire.

Belleville's Miss Mickels is Ferris' new queen

Most Homecoming Queens are probably thinking of parades and parties after being chosen to reign over their school's Homecoming activities, but after the announcement was made at Ferris State College's pep assembly Friday, Ferris' new Queen was thinking of bugs.

Ferris' 1981 Homecoming Queen, Gina Mickels of Belleville, was asked after winning the crown what she'll do first as Queen Gina: "I have to do five entomology questions this afternoon," she replied.

The dedicated, black occupational health and safety administration senior was crowned Ferris' Homecoming Queen by Bill Buckingham, director of student services at FSC, at noon, Friday, after a campus-wide election last week. The daughter of Elon and Mildred Mickels of Belleville, Gina was sponsored by Phi Delta Chi.

Also during the 11 a.m. assembly, the selection of Jim Wink as Homecoming Marshal was announced by Dave Martino, student homecoming chairman Wink, an assistant professor in the health, physical education and recreation department at Ferris, was basketball coach from 1959 until his retirement from that position last winter.

The Marshal is chosen by members of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity on the basis of helpfulness to students. Both the Marshal and the Queen will ride on featured floats in the Homecoming Parade.

"I'm really honored," was Mickels second reaction to being chosen Homecoming Queen. "I can't believe it; we're all in shock!" Mickels said her parents are coming up tomorrow for the parade and the football game, at which she and her court will be presented.

A member of NAACP and a Phi Beta Sigma little sister, Mickels confessed that for today, "I'm going to have a big phone bill."

The other four queen candidates who will make up Queen Gina's court, listed with their sponsors, are as follows: Christine Mannino, Detroit, sponsored by Pi Kappa Alpha, the Society for the Advancement of Management and Merrill-Travis Hall.

Kathee Kuhn, Traverse City, sponsored by Kappa Psi; Gerylann Fournier, St. Clair Shores, sponsored by Zeta Tau Alpha and Pickell and Taggart Halls, and Cindy Hayes, Durrand, sponsored by Vandercook Hall.

The assembly also included the introduction of the FSC football team by Coach Nick Coso, and the Ferris cheerleaders by Coach Phyllis Powell.

A unique service WC3 offers child care 'developmental' program

Among the many-faceted student and community services currently provided by Wayne County Community College's new Western Regional Center (9555 Haggerty Road, Belleville), is its Child Care Program.

Western's recently opened Child Center provides a comprehensive educational child development program geared toward the emotional, social, cognitive and physical development of the toddler as well as pre-school and school age children.

"We feel we are doing something rather unique at the Western Center, as well as the other Child Care facilities at the college's other campuses", said Arlene Altman, Director of the Child Care Program at WCCC. "Our concern for serving community members and our student-parents is to offer them an up-to-date place for their children to learn and develop; essentially we are talking about a 'developmental' environment, in addition to a place for day-care service."

The Western Center's indoor-outdoor Child Care complex features a creative play-area, an observation facility, a parent education program and an information resource library. In addition to providing a learning-oriented environment, the Child Care Program Center serves as a laboratory for practicum students enrolled in the Child Care Technology, psychology, Nursing and Dietetic Technology programs.

WCCC President Richard Simmons Jr. emphasizes the importance of the Child Care service and commitment by his institution.

"This is the perfect outgrowth of our pledge to the public for serving all of our people" he said, "and through the Child Care Program we run the spectrum of birth through adulthood. This is not merely an understatement, for this unique program offers educational early childhood programs for children 2 months through 12 years of age."

The Western Center Child Care Center is staffed with professionally trained Child Development specialists. The educational program here is specially designed to meet the formative needs of the toddler or infants, which makes it unique in presenting such service to the Western-Wayne County area.

The program is offered to students and community members and includes hourly, half-day nursery school programs, with special discounts to families, emergency drop-in care, as well as industrial and conference child care.

"Students, faculty members and naturally, all of our community members are welcome to visit and enroll their children in our Child Care Program" says Dr. Julius R. Brown, Western Center Regional Dean.

"This program is a fully state and federally licensed program and it stands as one of the most 'people-oriented' offerings of Wayne County Community College today."

For further information concerning the Child Care Program at Wayne County Community College, please contact either Arlene Altman, Director, or Patrick Caraher, Program Coordinator at 669-0214.

VA opens new centers

The Veterans Administration has announced that 42 new counseling centers for Vietnam Era veterans will open within the next three to four months.

This will expand the nationwide Vet Center program to 133 facilities.

Vietnam Era veterans have 10 years from their date of discharge, or until Dec. 31, 1989, to use their GI Bill education benefits.

The Veterans Administration is reminding veterans and their dependents not to let a lost document prevent them from applying for a VA benefit.

The agency will accept a certified statement from applicants in instances where documents needed to establish eligibility for benefits are lost.

Government furnished monuments to mark the graves of veterans are available. When applying, use VA Form 40-1330, "Application for Headstone or Marker," and mail to monument Service (42), Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Ave., N.W., Washington, DC 20420.

The Veterans Administration is reminding all college-bound veterans to register early this fall and to avoid dropping classes after registration.

Faust says 'Milliken Plan' retreats from economic reality

Stating their disappointment that Governor Milliken is retreating from his comprehensive economic development plan, State Senator Doug Ross (D-Southfield) and Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-Westland) announced their determination to complete work on their Ten-Point Economic Development Plan by the end of the year.

"While others have been making speeches about improving Michigan's job climate, we've been developing, drafting, and voting on concrete measures that will make something happen now-not in 1983 or 1984," Faust stated, "and we've made substantial progress."

The Senators stated that they strongly disagreed with the Governor's decision to postpone the effect of most of his program for over 12 months. The Senators explained that "Michigan's terrible jobless rate simply won't permit such a delay."

Elements of the plan already passed in the Senate include: SB 240 (Small Business Tax Relief), SB 360 (removes workers comp and unemployment comp from the Single Business Tax base), SB 323 (paperwork sunset act), and SB 239 (urban land assembly fund). Senator Faust explained that the Senate has passed many of the bills in the package, both the House and Senate are considering other proposals encompassed in this package and still other elements are ready for introduction or administrative implementation.

"In other words, since last June when we introduced this package, we've taken the lead and gotten down to the 'nuts and bolts' of a comprehensive plan," added Ross.

Faust and Ross reported that they had recently learned from administration officials that the Governor's proposed business tax cuts, his investments project to lure new high-technology firms to Michigan, his $100 million Economic Development Fund, and his advertising campaign to promote Michigan, would not begin until late 1982 and early 1983.

Virtually all that remains of his program for quick action are symbolic changes in our Workers Comp and Unemployment Insurance laws. The Legislature is still working on these bills. The Legislature is still working on these bills. The Legislature is still working on these bills.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM LAURA AND DARWIN KURETH:

Dear Friends:

Just a short note to try and thank you for the 32 years of happiness and friendship which you have given us.

It is with very mixed feelings that we shall retire and turn our dress shop over to the new owners on the 26th of this month. Hopefully, we shall have time to do many of the things about which we have dreamed but also there is a great sense of loss that we shall no longer find your cheerful and smiling faces at our front door.

Above thoughts we must leave with our many thanks for all these wonderful years.

ASK THE CHIROPRACTOR

Dear Dr. Elwart,

Q: What problems could a curved spine cause? In last week's newspaper you had a picture of some X-rays that had curved spines.

A: Depending on the severity of the Scoliosis or curved spine of the person involved there could be breathing problems your vital organs such as the heart and lungs could be pushed out of shape by the ribs and cause them not to work up to their capacity, this could lead to death. There also is a more obvious problem, that of having a "crooked back".

Did you realize that 58% of adolescents between the ages of 11 to 18 have or will develop a scoliosis or an excessive spinal curvature? This is not caused just by poor posture. There probably was an accident or fall in this patient's history causing the vertebra of the spine to get out of place. Eventually if these spinal bones are not put back into their proper position, the body will adapt to this crookedness and make the scoliosis or curve permanent. The time to prevent this problem is during the growing years of the child and teenager with regular chiropractic checkups. This holds true for the adult also, for an accident or a fall could well be the start of a very serious condition, a scoliosis, if not taken care of by chiropractic adjustments.

TODAY'S TIP FOR HEALTH

To check for a possible scoliosis (S-shaped curve of the spine)

1. Bend over at the waist and let your arms swing forward freely. 2. Put your palms together. If one arm appears longer than another you may have a scoliosis or a curved spine. 3. See your Chiropractor for regular spinal checkups.

Dear Dr. Shaft,

Q: Is it safe for pregnant women to receive Chiropractic adjustments?

A: Not only is it safe but a very important part of prenatal care. During a pregnancy there is much added stress as weight is added to the mother's body. This can cause her to be out of "adjustment" much more easily. Then the mother will start to experience more frequent backaches. Patients that have received Chiropractic care during their pregnancy have also reported having an easier labor and delivery.

to meet these particular needs and goals," he said.

Bergeron has been active in community organizations and projects and has received enthusiastic support from many people. For instance, Christine Anderson, director of Romulus Housing Commission, says: "Mr. Bergeron has been an extremely effective member of our Housing Commission."

"Pete will definitely be an asset to the City Council," said Mike Wojtylko, president of South Little League.

"As active as he is, I'm sure Pete will serve us well," added Rev. Fr. Walter Lezuchowski, pastor, St. Aloysius Church.

"Having worked with Pete on many city projects, I found him responsible, a hard worker concerned ultimately with the best interest of Romulus and its citizens. I believe those qualities will be transferred as a Romulus City Councilman," said Jay Young, former public information officer of Romulus from 1977-81.

Bergeron said if he is elected to city council, "I pledge to work with the administration for the efficient operation of city government."

ALAN R. LAMBERT

election because he believes more people need to get involved in local government.

The first-time candidate for public office was born and raised in Romulus and is a graduate of Romulus High School. His parents, Daniel and Dorothy Lambert, have lived in Romulus 33 years.

"I will work with citizens and other governmental agencies to enact legislation to bring accountability to the Airport-Romulus situation," said the 26-year-old candidate. "Too long Romulus has been the victim of the Wayne County Road Commission."

Lambert and his wife, Lynn, have three daughters, Cary, Sara and Jennifer, and reside on Westvale. He is employed at Detroit Diesel-Allison Plant in Romulus and has attended Wayne County Community College.

Lambert says that if he is elected he looks forward to getting better communication between the citizens and local elected officials.

"I believe strongly in more citizen involvement," he said, "perhaps a monthly informal meeting with City Council members held in various parts of the city."

"There should be a concerted effort spearheaded by the City Council and the city administration working toward property tax relief," Lambert said.

"This may be my first run for public office but I will work hard to be a good councilman and serve all the residents of Romulus."

JACK H. TRUMBLE

Jack Trumble, a former Councilman, is one of the 14 nominees seeking seven seats on Romulus City Council in the Nov. 3 election.

The 47-year-old father of three resides at 28305 Goddard Road and has lived in Romulus 16 years. Trumble is running as a team with former Romulus Mayor Terry L. Troutt and campaign literature urges voters to elect both of them for the good of the city.

Trumble was a councilman in 1974 and served as chairman of the Romulus Bicentennial Committee in 1976. He has been a member of the Police, Fire and Safety Commission, a precinct delegate and a member of the Romulus Planning Commission.

A member and trustee of the 15th District Democratic Party, Trumble attended Redford High School and is a journeyman sheet metal worker and a member of Local 80.

Some of his previous activity includes: city negotiator for city employees contract, Romulus Board of Review, School Board Advisory Committee; member of St. Aloysius Parish, sheet metal credit union officer and volunteer in civic organizations.

He vigorously supports senior citizens programs and has strongly backed recreation programs for youths.

Although Trumble did not respond to the three questions asked by the Romulus Roman's questionnaire, he did supply a 4-page campaign brochure that he and Troutt distributed.

"What is happening to Romulus? Why is our city council at a standstill? These are among the questions people are seriously asking. They are worried over the city's lack of progress," the brochure stated.

A discussion of Mr. Foster's back problem followed. Mr. Foster offered a signed waiver to the Township, releasing the township of any liability now or in the future.

Mr. James explained to the Board that under the "Handicapper" laws, the employer has a responsibility to prove that the applicant can not perform the job because of a handicap that an employer cannot discriminate because a person has a handicap. He also stated that a signed "waiver" from a prospective employee, with a "back problem" would not be valid in the Workmen's Compensation Court.

The members of the Township Board (Supervisor, Clerk and Treasurer) who had tested and interviewed the applicants for the position felt that this applicant would best suit the township's needs at this time.
